232. A brief account of the more important schools is given below—

(1) The Burdwan Technical School.—The Burdwan Technical School is managed by the District Board with a Government grant of Rs. 80. It has a Sub-Overseer's department with 40 pupils on 31st March 1922, against 31 in 1916-17. The expenditure in 1921-22 was Rs. 4,142 of which Rs. 960 came from provincial revenues, Rs. 1,855 from the District Board, Rs. 1,249 from fees and Rs. 78 from other sources. The corresponding figures for 1916-17 were Rs. 3,619, Rs. 960, Rs. 1,492, Rs. 831 and Rs. 336. In 1921-22, 17 candidates appeared at the Sub-Overseer's examination of whom 7 passed.

(2) Lillooah Technical School.—The Lillooah Technical School is intended for employees of the East Indian Railway. The course is both theoretical and practical. It had 70 pupils of whom 30 were Anglo-Indians, the rest being Hindus. The total cost was Rs. 3,342 of which Rs. 720 came from provincial revenues.

(3) The Maheswarpasa Art School, Khulna.—The School of Art at Maheswarpasa in Khulna teaches drawing, modelling and painting. It had 49 pupils and spent Rs. 1,570 of which Rs. 1,150 came from provincial sources, and Rs. 420 from District fund.

(4) The Barisal Technical School.—The Barisal Technical School had a staff of 9 teachers, including 2 B.E. s and 2 overseers. The rest were recruited from trained artisans. In 1921-22 no pupil was ready for the final examination. In 1916-17, 3 students passed in carpentry and 1 in tinsmithing. It had 44 pupils on its rolls on 31st March 1922 and cost Rs. 8,546 from public funds. It is under the direct management of Government.

(5) The Comilla Elliot Artisan School.—The Comilla Elliot Artisan School had 124 pupils on 31st March 1922 against 57 in 1917. It teaches carpentry, blacksmithing, tinsmithing, weaving, brass-moulding and mechanical engineering. It is under the management of the Tippera District Board. The total expenditure for 1921-22 was Rs. 22,667. of which Rs. 18,140 was met by the District Board, Rs. 2,168 by Government and Rs. 2,359 from the sale proceeds of the manufactured articles.

(6) The Elliot Banamali Technical School.—The Elliot Banamali Technical School at Pabna had 85 pupils of whom 47 were in the Lower Subordinate Class, 21 in the Survey Class and 17 in the Artisan Class. The total expenditure of the school was Rs. 13,839 of which Rs. 9,864 came from the District Board funds and Rs. 978 from sale proceeds. Altogether 18 pupils were successful in the different examinations.

(7) The Rajshahi Diamond Jubilee School.—The Rajshahi Diamond Jubilee School had 99 pupils on its rolls of whom 37 belonged to the Lower Subordinate Class, 10 to the Amin Class and 24 to the Artisan Class. The total cost was Rs. 15,682, the District Board contribution amounting to Rs. 11,082 and the sale-proceeds to Rs. 1,969. Five students passed the Lower Subordinate and 4 the Survey Examination.

(8) The Kalimpong Industrial Schools.—The Kalimpong Industrial School for boys had 125 pupils distributed in the three departments—tailoring, technical and gardening. Government makes an allotment of Rs. 6,000 annually towards the maintenance of these schools.

(9) The Sericultural School, Rajshahi.—This is a Government institution having 12 pupils on its rolls. The cost to Government was Rs. 5,484. At the Final Examination 5 pupils passed out of 10 that appeared.

(10) The Calcutta Technical School.—This is an evening school for apprentices held in rooms belonging to the Government School of Art, pending the construction of a structure of its own for which a site has been purchased at a cost of about Rs. 8½ lakhs. It will enable a greatly improved training to be provided for apprentices and others employed in engineering work in or near Calcutta, besides forming the nucleus of a technological institute which will provide higher technical training in various subjects. The Government grant to the school was increased during the period under review. Another step in the same direction is the opening of a school at the Kanchrapara Workshops of the Eastern Bengal Railway where educated Indians may take a full course of apprenticeship combined with technical instruction such as will enable them ultimately to attain good positions in mechanical and electrical works. These new developments are being worked up in constant touch with the Board of Control of Apprenticeship Training thus securing a close relationship to the actual requirements of the Engineering industries.

CHAPTER VIII.

The education of Indian girls and women.

233. General.—The last review summarised the problem of the education of Indian girls and women in Bengal thus:—

> The field has been well mapped and a comprehensive system has been evolved. . . Is it too much to hope that we shall be able so to order things that the education given will be a reality? There is only one way of accomplishing this, and that is by securing cultured and sympathetic women to work as inspectresses, and in Colleges and Schools, and by giving these women as free a hand as possible. If we determine to do this, and do not shrink from the bill—it will not be an unlimited liability—we shall be giving Indian women a chance.

It is to be seen, whether, since these words were written, we have been "giving Indian women a chance," and whether they have taken advantage of it. On the whole, it may be said that in this particular branch of educational work, the progress has been steady and continuous, despite special circumstances which seem to have reacted more upon girls' than upon boys' education; as for example, the ravages of the recurring epidemics of influenza during the period, which in many cases completely blotted out a good deal of whole-hearted effort. It is pleasant to observe in the words of the Inspectress of Schools, Presidency Division, that "Indian public opinion is slowly changing from its former attitude of positive dislike to the education of women," and is progressing through apathy to cordial co-operation. Thus in the district of Mymensingh, where in 1917 there were 6 aided girls' schools, there are now 39, while in the Chittagong division "the number of Primary Aided Schools has increased to such an extent as to make it almost impossible for one Inspecting Officer to supervise them." The figures, indeed for all primary schools in that division show an increase of 1,108 or 69 per cent.

The Calcutta University Commission.

234. The recommendations regarding the education of women and girls, put forward by the Calcutta University commission, are as follows :—

> We have been deeply impressed by the very great importance of encouraging a more rapid development of women's education in Bengal, by the social difficulties with which this problem is surrounded, and by the extremely slight progress which has hitherto been made. But we are of opinion that owing to the directness with which it touches deep social issues, this problem ought to be dealt with by bodies especially conversant with the needs and interests involved.
> (i) There should be a standing committee of the Board of Secondary and Intermediate Education to deal with the education of girls, such committee to include women and to be empowered to consult bodies consisting of women only, in which purdah women could take a part.
> (ii) An attempt should be made to organise purdah schools for Hindu and Muslim girls whose parents are willing to extend their education to 15 or 16.
> (iii) In view of the small number of women candidates for University courses, the intermediate classes should not be separated from the degree colleges for women.
> (iv) We realise that an increasing number of women students will require the most advanced teaching that the University can provide. We hold, therefore, as a matter of principle, that women should be admitted as far as possible to the instruction provided or organised by the University. But we recognise that in the special circumstances existing in Bengal, the main provision for women's higher education must be made in distinct institutions and under special direction.
> (v) A Special Board of Women's Education should be established in Calcutta University, and should be empowered to propose special courses of study more particularly suited for women, and to organise co-operative arrangements for teaching in the women's colleges, more particularly for the training of teachers and in preparation for medical courses.
> (vi) Relations should be established between this Board and the Governing Body of the Lady Hardinge Medical College for women at Delhi.

Pending the constitution of the Board of Secondary and Intermediate Education, pending also legislation concerning the reform of Calcutta University, these recommendations must await decision.

235. Schools and Pupils.—

—	Schools.	Pupils.	Muhammadan pupils.	Hindu pupils.
1916-17	9,520	2,85,398	1,31,380	1,46,224
1921-22	12,280	3,33,870	1,73,989	1,51,523

Thus schools increased 28·9 per cent. and pupils 16·9 per cent. Muhammadan pupils increased by 32·4 per cent. and Hindus by 3·6 per cent.

236. Girls in various stages of instruction.—Over 98·94 per cent. of girls in all schools were in the primary stage in 1921-22, ·47 per cent. in the secondary and ·19 per cent. in the High, against 99·54 per cent., ·45 per cent. and ·17 per cent. in 1916-17.

237. Expenditure.—The total expenditure on schools and colleges was Rs. 17,11,666 of which public funds paid Rs. 10,59,680 or 61·9 per cent. against Rs. 11,13,718 and Rs. 6,90,289 or 62 per cent. in 1916-17.

238. The Inspecting staff.—Two more Assistant Inspectresses have been appointed during the quinquennium, so that the staff consists now of two Inspectresses, each having six assistants. To cope with the increase of work, both Inspectresses consider that a further increase is necessary, more especially to obviate the present system by which much of the inspection of the remote schools is done by men.

Collegiate Education.

239. General.—There are four arts colleges for women, three in Calcutta, the Bethune College, a Government Institution, the Diocesan College, and the Collegiate department of Loreto House School for Girls, one of which is Government aided. In all except the last, there has been a steady growth in numbers. The Bethune College grew from 78 in 1917 to 114 in 1922, and the Principal reports that no further increase is possible without extension of premises. The Diocesan College grew from 50 in 1917, to 71 in 1922. The Loreto House Collegiate department has maintained its numbers—some 16 throughout the period. Here the limit of accommodation has long been reached, nor does the system adopted in the Convent admit of larger numbers. The fourth institution is the Intermediate department of the Eden High School for Girls at Dacca, founded automatically on the disaffiliation of the School from the University of Calcutta, consequent on the establishment of the University at Dacca. The department was started on short notice, and at present teaches only English, history, logic, Sanskrit, mathematics and Bengali. Students on the 31st March 1922 were 12, in the first-year class.

240. Examinations.—The following table gives the successes of women at the university examinations during the quinquennium:—

The Bethune College.

241. General.—The increased numbers noted above reflect the increased usefulness of the institution. This has been achieved in the face of constant difficulty due largely to lack of accommodation. As the Principal says—"The buses are crammed; the hostel is crammed; the lecture rooms are crammed." She outlines a scheme for extension both of hostel and lecture-room accommodation, and justifies her appeal for increased funds by the fact that every year she is forced to reject many applications for admission both to the college and to the hostel. The increasing demand for a scientific education, noted among men-students is also being made by women, and the Principal bases upon this her claim that the college be affiliated in chemistry and physics to the intermediate standard, a claim which at the end of the period was not far from acceptance. During the quinquennium the college has been the subject of much discussion, and in 1918 a Committee was appointed to consider the whole question of its future, though financial considerations here as elsewhere make large expansion at present impossible. However, Government has accepted certain principles upon which possible advance may be made, e.g., (i) that the school staff should, as far as possible, be composed of women, (ii) that certain extensions of premises should be made, though so far only a small building for science teaching has been added, and (iii) that a revised curriculum should be introduced, though the settlement of its details must await the constitution of the Board of a Standing Committee for female education to be formed in accordance with the recommendations of the Calcutta University Commission.

242.—Affiliation.—During the period, the college received further affiliation in English (honours), Sanskrit (honours), economics (pass), mathematics (pass) and botany (pass). Thus it is affiliated to the honours standard in English and Sanskrit, to the pass standard in Philosophy, History, Bengali and Botany to the intermediate standard in logic.

243. Staff.—Increased affiliation has led to a considerable increase in staff, there having been added 4 lecturers to the staff, as it stood in 1917, of a principal, 3 professors and 4 lecturers.

244.—Examinations——

	Candidates appeared, 1921-22.	Candidates passed, 1921-22.	Percentage of passes, 1921-22.	Percentage of passes for Quinquennium 1912-17.

245. Expenditure (College and Hostel).—

	1921-22.	1916-17.
	Rs.	Rs.
From provincial revenues ...	70,912	47,956
From fees and other sources ...	10,368	4,692
Total ...	81,280	52,648

The average annual cost per pupil was Rs. 555 in 1921-22 as against Rs. 461 in 1916-17, of which Government paid Rs. 506 and Rs. 424, respectively.

246. The Diocesan College, Calcutta.—Here again the story must be repeated of possible expansion and greater usefulness handicapped by want of money. Increased numbers have entailed increased hostel accommodation, and two new outside hostels have been leased and opened. The Principal reports an encouraging and growing interest of the students in social questions, and a very satisfactory development in the physical side of the college life. But the financial outlook is black. The recurring grant of Rs. 7,200 is expended in salaries, as also the hostel grant of Rs. 720. The additional hostel grant of Rs. 4,320 does not cover the rent of one of the new Hostels. Despite raised fees, despite the fact that the post of Principal is an honorary one, the position of the college is precarious, dependent as it largely is upon the generosity of a religious community. This is unfortunate, for the College is working towards a high ideal, and its staff is highly qualified and devoted to that ideal.

247. Loreto House, Calcutta.—Since 1917, the college department has been affiliated to the B.A. standard, and though the number sent up for this examination is small, there is a very consistent record of success.

Secondary Education.

248. High Schools.—The quinquennium has seen the failure of an experiment made after much anxious thought and careful preparation. The matriculation examination has long conditioned the curriculum and methods of secondary schools, even those for girls. It is unnecessary to labour here the peculiarly inappropriate nature of such a course, but some idea of its futility may be gathered from the fact that in an average year of the quinquennium 1912-17 there were some 2,700 girls in high schools; these girls were all being taught according to a curriculum laid down for an examination which in 1916, 65 girls passed, of whom only about half proceeded to a higher University Examination. To remove this anomaly, Miss Brock endeavoured to concentrate in one or two schools all preparation for the matriculation examination, thus leaving other schools to give a more fitting education to their girls which should include hygiene, nursing, needle-work, cookery and domestic science. The missionary authorities keenly appreciated the value of the suggested change. Thus, the Baptist Zenana Mission, and the Wesleyan Mission agreed to send their girls to the London Missionary Society School for the Matriculation Course. Christ Church Girls' School and the United Free Church School joined forces to teach the new curriculum; in each case the experiment was a failure, deplorable indeed, but unavoidable so long as public opinion demands the matriculation examination as a sacrosanct test of the excellence of a high school education. Thus a well-planned, well-proportioned common-sense scheme has failed because it was not in accordance with present opinion. The schools have reverted to their original status as defined by the matriculation course. It was pointed out by Mr. Hornell in 1917 that the necessary preliminary, in an examination-ridden country, to a decently-planned course for girls' secondary schools, is an examination, " inaugurated by Government and conducted by a recognised public authority, a test which can be adjusted to the varying needs of the different classes of pupils." The five intervening years have seen the fundamentally reconstructive recommendations of the Calcutta University Commission in this respect, but the state of affairs is exactly as it was when the above words were written.

249. Numbers.—There are 13 high schools for girls, 8 in West Bengal, 5 in East Bengal, as against a total of 14 in 1917. Although the middle English school for girls at Barisal has been raised to the status of a high English school, yet the number of high schools has fallen because of the ill-success of the scheme mentioned above, as the Wesleyan Mission High School, Barrackpore, has become a middle school. The Gardener Memorial School also closed permanently in 1918, through financial reasons connected with the war. Miss Brock wrote in her report for 1918-19 :—

> It was a private institution, which had gradually been deteriorating and the closing of it can hardly be considered a misfortune, more especially as I believe the girls belonging to it have all found their way to other high schools.

The natural result has been the still further overcrowding in Calcutta of the remaining 8 schools. Thus in the 13 schools at the end of the quinquennium there were 2,744 pupils including 104 boys, as against 2,059 in 14 schools in 1917. Of these 639 girls were in the high stage of instruction, against 488 in 1916-17.

250 Expenditure.—Expendiutre rose from Rs. 2,15,967 of which Rs. 1,12,673 came from provincial revenues, to Rs. 3,24,795 in 1921-22, of which Rs. 1,55,111 came from provincial revenues.

251. Middle Schools.—The declining popularity of middle schools for boys is not observable in those for girls. As the Inspectress of the Presidency Division remarks :—

> The middle schools are most important, for few Hindu and Muhammadan girls study beyond this stage. They now form a distinct class of schools of a superior type, and in almost all of them there are trained and qualified head mistresses, and the majority of teachers are trained. Very sound education is being given in these institutions, and they are highly appreciated by the people.

Although in Eastern Bengal the Inspectress is not so unqualified in her praise, she reports steady progress in most of these schools under her control. And this advance is shown also by the figures.

252. Institutions and pupils.—In 1922 there were 28 middle English schools with 3,509 pupils and 29 middle vernacular schools with 3,100, a total of 6,609 pupils, against 20; 2,585; 30; 2,923 and 5,508, corresponding figures for 1917.

253. Total expenditure on secondary schools for Indian girls.—The total expenditure on secondary schools for Indian girls and women was Rs. 5,84,889, against Rs. 3,75,537 in 1916-17. Public funds contributed 50·2 per cent., fees 23·4, and other sources 26·4, against 51·2 per cent., 16·9 per cent., and 31·9 per cent. in 1916-17. The cost per head rose from Rs. 53 to Rs. 64, the disproportion between the cost of educating a girl and a boy, noticed in the last review, continuing, the corresponding figures for boys being Rs. 19 and Rs. 28.

Primary Education.

254. Schools and pupils.—There were in 1922, 196 upper primary schools and 11,955 lower primary schools for girls, with 12,188 and 255,430 girls. Upper and lower primary schools for girls, on the 31st March 1917 were 228 and 9,134 with 13,129 and 197,162 girls. In boys primary schools there were 55,076 girls, against 64,484 in 1917. Thus the total number of girls in primary schools inreased from 274,775 to 322,694 or 17·4 per cent.

255. Management.—Of the 12,151 schools, 153 are under public management, the rest being generally aided by Government, municipalities or district boards.

256. Expenditure.—The total expenditure on primary schools for Indian girls was Rs. 8,45,232 of which Rs. 6,01,638 or 71·2 per cent. came from public funds, against Rs. 5,85,562 and Rs. 3,99,410 or 68·2 per cent. in 1917. Thus expenditure increased by Rs. 2,59,670 or 44·3 per cent. the contribution from public funds increasing by Rs. 2,02,228.

257. Cost of maintaining a primary school.—The average cost of maintaining a primary school for girls was Rs. 69·5 in 1921-22, against Rs. 62·6 in 1916-17, public funds contributing Rs. 49·5 and Rs. 42·7. The figure is low in comparison with that for a boys' school, because the separate girls' classes in many boys' schools are returned as girls' schools, and for them the pandit receives only a small extra payment, and few girls pay fees. Thus again, the cost per head is low, Rs. 3·3 in 1921-22 against Rs. 2·9 in 1916-17.

258. Types of primary schools.—At different times, various types of primary schools for girls have been established, between which the main difference is the source of aid. Both Inspectresses deplore the condition of most of them in building and equipment, especially of those aided by district boards, though gradually by the establishment of district board or panchayeti union model schools, the standard is rising. Model schools, managed by the department through a Consulting Committee, have made the status of their teachers more attractive, there being two grades with maxima of Rs. 110 and Rs. 90. The peasant girls' schools in the Presidency Division continued their work in backward and remote districts.

259. Imperial grants.—During the quinquennium whatever extension and improvement in the primary education of women and girls have been made were brought about largely with the help of Imperial allotments. Thus in 1918-19, apart from other minor schemes, may be mentioned (a) an increase of Rs. 2 in the pay of the teachers in schools aided by local bodies; (b) an addition of Rs. 34,000 per annum in the grant-in-aid allotments of the Inspectresses; (c) provision of funds for the extension of panchayeti union schools and for the construction of model school-houses. These grants were continued although the Imperial allotments ceased in 1920-21

260. Curriculum.—Although much discussion has taken place; no change has been made in the curriculum for primary schools, and East and West Bengal use the unco-ordinated curricula in use during the previous quinquennium. Certain revisions will, however, take effect from January 1923, though for purposes of comparison, the old curriculum will be followed in certain selected districts. It may, however, be wondered whether it would not be wise to have fewer rules and less prescription of curriculum for girls' schools other than those controlled by university syllabus. Girls have so few years of school, public opinion is so uncertain as to what their education should include, and teachers with a wide range of capacity are so few, that it is for consideration whether schools should not within generous limits be permitted to decide their own curricula with reference to local opinion and the capacity of the teachers available, subject always to the one condition that the chief subject shall be the girl's own language, literature and traditions. If they can be given a love for this during their short school life they have been given a permanent possession which will be of inestimable benefit to themselves and their children.

261. Needlework.—The scheme by which needlework is taught by peripatetic mistresses has worked well, though additional funds are necessary for increased travelling allowance and for the increase in the grant of one rupee sanctioned to those schools taking the subject. In the towns, the needlework has much improved, and an increasing number of girls compete in the Lady Carmichael Needlework Diploma Examination.

262. Scholarships.—There has been no change in the system for the award and payment of scholarships. The following table gives the number available for girls only:—

		East Bengal	West Bengal.
Lower Primary	...	75 (+ 43 reserved by District Boards).	42 (+ 14 reserved by District Boards).

Co-education.

263. Girls in boys' schools, and boys in girls' schools.—In 1921-22 girls in boys' secondary schools were 343, and boys in girls' secondary schools 409, as against 320 and 251 in 1916-17. The girls in primary schools for boys were 55,076 and boys in primary schools for girls were 2,709 as against 64,484 and 3,788 in 1916-17. In special and other schools for boys there were 284 girls as against 425. Girls and women in all classes of public institutions for men and boys were 55,703 on the 31st March 1922, as compared with 65,229 in 1917. In the last review the question was raised as to the advisability of encouraging co-education in Bengal, despite its unpopularity. The situation is unchanged, there being still the system by which girls in the remoter districts unprovided with a girls' school come to the boys' school, or the pandit of the boys' school holds, or is supposed to hold separate classes before or after ordinary school hours, receiving in either case extra remuneration. The figures show that, with the establishment of more girls' schools, the tendency is to remove girls from boys' schools, thus giving point to the concluding opinion of the last review, that "where a separate girls' school exists or could be established, no encouragement whatever (should) be given to pandits of boys' schools to admit girls."

The Education of Muhammadan Girls.

264. Girls in public institutions on the 31st March.—

	Muhammadans.	All other classes.	Percentage of Muhammadans to total number of girls.
1917 ...	131,380	154,018	46·0 per cent.
1922 ...	173,989	159,881	52·1 „ „
Increase ...	42,609	5,863	...

265. Muhammadan girls in public institutions on 31st March.—

—	Arts Colleges.	High Schools.	Middle Schools.	Primary Schools.	Special Schools.
1922	2	76	389	173,160	362
1917	2	36	205	129,341	1,796

The progress of primary education among Muhammadan girls is well illustrated by these tables for the total increase in numbers is largely due to them. In 1921-22, of the total number of Muhammadan girls and women in public institutions, 99·5 per cent. were in primary schools, against 98·4 per cent. in 1916-17.

266. Girls in private institutions.—In 1921-22, 6,899 Muhammadan girls were in private institutions, against 9,099 in 1916-17. Of these, 6,534 were in Koran schools, against 7,393 in 1916-17.

267. The desire for education.—Both Inspectresses comment on the increasing desire among Muhammadans to send their girls to school. In the Presidency Division, 9 Muhammadan schools and 30 maktabs are receiving grants-in-aid, and many are applying for them. Since 1920, 19 primary scholarships have been reserved for Muhammadan girls, two middle English and two middle vernacular.

Zenana Education.

268. Future of Zenana Education.—There seems to be a consensus of opinion that the results of Zenana Education are not proportionate to the expenditure of public funds. The system makes little progress, very largely because the house-to-house visits, favoured by the women themselves and their relatives, are not conducive to economy of effort. Again, the standard reached by the pupils is very low, which is natural when it is realised that few of the teachers can teach beyond the lower primary standard. Here again the problem is largely financial, for low salaries and inadequate conveyance allowances do not make the post of a Zenana Teacher attractive. Yet it is not certain that other and better teachers would be available if pay were improved. In all branches of women's education a fundamental difficulty is that the supply of teachers of any sort is very limited. And yet as the Inspectress of Dacca Division remarks, "the success of these classes depends entirely on the personality and attainments of the Governess; where these are of a high order, the classes are an assured success. But the work is most discouraging, and the results generally not apparent. However, without the Zenana Governess many girls would miss the little education they have." This last sentence seems to sum up the matter; Zenana education must be a temporary make-shift till such time as "with the spread of primary education in Bengal every girl will have the chance of receiving primary education before her marriage." But there would still remain room for such an institution as that at Krishnagar, where married women may study beyond the primary stage.

Private Institutions.

269. Pupils.—In 1921-22, there were 9,992 girls in private institutions against 11,095 in 1916-17; 2,507 Hindus, 6,899 Muhammadans, 397 Indian Christians, 11 Buddhists, 2 Parsis and 176 of other communities. The corresponding figures for 1916-17 were 1,894; 9,099; 59; 31; 1 and 11.

270. Mahakali Pathsalas.—The popularity of this type of school, which teaches the domestic and religious duties of the Hindu wife and mother, continues. That at Mymensingh calls for special mention; it had 225 pupils, and cost Rs. 2,039. It is well housed and equipped, and is evidently popular in the district.

CHAPTER IX.

The education of Europeans and Anglo-Indians.

INSTITUTIONS AND PUPILS.

271. Institutions.—There were 87 institutions in 1921-22, an increase of 8 during the quinquennium. Secondary schools were 21, higher grade (previously called higher elementary) 24, primary (previously called elementary) 17, technical institutions 3, special classes 20, one training class for teachers and another for defective children. The numbers in 1916-17 were 21, 17, 21, 3, 16 and 1, though three institutions failed to submit returns.

272. Pupils.—The number of pupils in different stages of instruction in European Schools and Special Classes is as follows:—

	High.	Middle.	Upper Primary.	Lower Primary.	Special Classes.	Total.
1916-1917—
Boys	555	921	1,071	2,474	402	...
Girls	350	675	938	2,248
Total ...	905	1,596	2,009	4,722	402	9,634
1921-1922—
Boys	633	980	1,207	2,648	751	...
Girls	405	712	1,011	2,355
Total ...	1,038	1,692	2,218	5,003	751	10,702

Included in these totals are the figures for non-Europeans, 1,570 in 1921-22, 675 in 1916-17, thus distributed by creed:—

	Indian Christians.	Brahmans.	Non-Brahmans.	Muhammadans.	Buddhists.	Parsis.	Others.	Total.
1916-17	76	83	83	64	30	123	214	675
1921-22	83	182	200	106	26	165	804	1,570

Thus there were 9,132 (10,702—1,570) European and Anglo-Indian pupils in 1921-22, against 8,959 (9,634—675) in 1916-17.

273. Local distribution of schools and pupils.—This remains much the same, Calcutta and the Hill stations being the chief centres. The following table shows distribution of pupils in secondary and primary schools only:—

	Calcutta and Howrah.	Darjeeling, Kurseong and Kalimpong.	Asansol.	Dacca.	Chittagong.	Eastern Bengal Railway.	East Indian Railway.	Bengal-Nagpore Railway.	Total.

It will be seen that the preponderance in the number of schools and of pupils maintained by Roman Catholic authorities, noted in the last review, still continues.

Collegiate education.

276. General.—There were 38 European and Anglo-Indian students in arts colleges (21 men, 17 women) in 1921-22, against 25 (8 men, 17 women) in 1916-17. As stated in the last two reviews, " Collegiate Education for Europeans, as a thing apart from the collegiate education of Indians, is practically non-existent." In this connection, it may be well to quote the opinion of the Calcutta University Commission—" Separate institutions for University and Technological training should not be provided for Europeans and Anglo-Indians, because the expense of such provision would be prohibitive, and because it is desirable that, intending as they do to earn their livelihood in India, these younger members of the European domiciled community should be brought into association, during the years of their University and Technological training, with the young Indians with whom afterwards they will be brought into association in business or in other ways." On the other hand, " the domiciled European community should have effective representation upon the Governing Body of the University of Calcutta, ... and suitable residential accommodation should be provided in the University towns for students belonging to the domiciled community in order that the new opportunities for University education may be effectively opened to them."

279. Examinations.—The following table gives the results for 1921, the last year for which complete statistics are available, of the various examinations at which pupils in European Schools appeared:—

It may be observed that the total expenditure has almost doubled in the last ten years, the figures for 1911-12 being Rs. 18,27,670.

280. Expenditure on boarding charges.—These figures include all sums spent on the boarding departments of all boarding schools and orphanages in Bengal:—

(a) Including the expenditure (Rs. 1,00,534 in 1917, and Rs. 75,614 in 1921-22) on the Boarding Departments of Victoria and Dow Hill Schools and the Training Class, Kurseong, all of which are Government institutions. The balance (Rs. 1,59,362 in 1916-17, Rs. 2,74,821 in 1922) was paid in free boarding grants.

281. Cost of Government institutions at Kurseong.—

Dow Hill Training Class ...	18,440	15,956	* decrease 2,484

* The decrease is due to the fact that in 1921-22 certain posts of teachers were vacant and the number of students was also very small.

The total cost to Government was thus Rs. 2,08,511, against Rs. 1,47,556 in 1916-17, this last figure including, however, the expenditure on the continuation and sub-overseer classes, abolished during the quinquennium.

283. Qualifications.—Of the 657 teachers in 1921-22, 312 or 47·5 per cent. were trained, against 211 out of 546 or 38·6 per cent. in 1916-17. Of 657 teachers in 1921-22, 160 held no certificates, as against 244 out of 546 in 1916-17.

284. Analysis of statistics.—The tables and figures given above show :—

(a) A considerable increase in the number of non-European children in European schools. This is explained partly by a belief that European schools give a better training, partly by the circumstances that the habits of many non-European families are such that their children are more at home in European schools. As will be shown later in this chapter, there has been much discussion over the functions which European schools should perform. The attempt to subdivide our educational system into two sub-systems, Indian and European, based on purely racial distinctions, has largely broken down : there is a steadily increasing pressure for the admission of non-Europeans which many think it desirable to encourage, regarding habits of life rather than difference of race as the proper basis of organization.

(b) A general unsatisfactory standard of work, as judged by examination results, particularly in the higher stages. The domiciled European is so handicapped by his environment that failure to achieve at school what he sets out to do is likely to react on his whole future.

(c) A considerable increase of expenditure. The general rise in the cost of living would have added largely to the cost of maintaining schools if there were no other necessity than to maintain former standards. But the great changes in the interpretation and practice of education that have come about in England in the last few years have begun to react on schools in India, and standards of work must be raised if the European in India is not to fall irretrievably behind the rest of his race.

285. General.—The quinquennium has been a time of great stress for the European and Anglo-Indian community and its schools, and little advance has been possible. Education, always largely a charity, has been more than ever busied with the charitable aspect of its work at a time when the resources of charity were diminished. The quinquenium also saw new political arrangements and adjustments which will react upon the community, and force it to strenuous efforts for improvement if it is to hold its own in the new conditions. In particular there must be more and better advanced work in schools and a greater readiness to take advantage of the opportunities of University study if the youth of the community is to hold its own in the competitive examinations recently instituted in India for the various Government services. There has developed no small body of opinion as to the suitability of the Cambridge examinations for European schools in Bengal. The matter being sub judice cannot be examined here. But it should be noticed that the University of Calcutta does offer to boys and girls of European schools generous opportunities, allowing them to graduate in two years after passing their higher school certificate, or alternately in four years after passing the school-leaving or senior local examination. It may also be noticed that only 7 pupils were presented for the higher school certificate in 1921, of whom 3 passed. It cannot be argued that the community is taking full advantage of its opportunities. The disinclination of boys and girls to stay in school after the age of 16 or 17, and the disinclination or inability of parents to keep them in school, is in great contrast with Indian practice. The difference in size in most schools between the Cambridge senior first and second year classes is a persistent cause of depression with teachers, who are more alive than pupils and their parents to the truth that no community can take a proper share in the responsible work of a country unless its youth is willing to undergo many years of discipline and preparation.

286. Definition.—The definition of European for the purposes of education remains unchanged, though it has received much attention. A new definition having been introduced for political purposes, it has been strongly contended that this should be adopted universally. A reference to this effect has been made to Government, but up to the present has not been accepted; should it be accepted, it will be necessary either to recast the code for European schools, or to make special arrangements for children excluded from these schools by the definition. Hitherto practice has been generous rather than precise, as these extracts from the report of the Inspector of European Schools show:—

> The fact must not, however, be overlooked that there are large communities which, with the present definitions, used in our Code, have the right of access to these schools and which have enjoyed that right for a very long term of years. Amongst these individuals there are some who can make more than a merely nominal claim to be European or to be at least a product of the economic and social intercourse between Europe and Asia. In Calcutta, and in some few places in Bengal, children of these places are to be found in large numbers. The Kintals in Calcutta are full of children having a mixed parentage of European and Chinese, or some subvariant of the same, whilst the child of mixed parentage who, in name at least, claims descent from the first European nation to find the eastern sea-road is to be met with as frequently in Bengal as perhaps in any other province in India.
> Then, again, we find in these schools large numbers of children from communities which may perhaps be termed quasi-European. Amongst these we find first the Armenians. It may be convenient here to refer to the original charter given in the days of the old East Indian Company which granted to the people of that race equal rights and privileges with the English, and which enjoined particularly that such rights and privileges were to be considered as given in perpetuo. In spite of that charter, the Armenian, though found in most of the European schools of the province, is classed as non-European. There are also the communities which adhere to the Jewish faith. These people, though all Jews, are yet not the whole community: in Bengal we have European Jews, and Jews of an undoubted Asiatic parentage. Hitherto these have all been classed as non-Europeans, and as such, with the Armenians and the Parsees have been generally placed under certain disabilities in respect to the regulations of the Code for European Schools in Bengal.
> Thus then the term European School, as used in the report, possesses a very wide connotation. Such schools educate children of pure European descent, those of mixed descent, and those who belong to particular communities; they educate children who belong to various social classes. We find in them children whose parents are substantially well-off or who occupy important positions in the world of commerce and trade, we find also children of a very poor agricultural population, and we find children of parents who form merely a residuum of the casual workman type. These schools, while varying in social classes, vary too in grades according to the nature of the education they offer. In this way European education in this province presents a problem, diverse, complex, but ever interesting, the importance of which cannot be lightly passed over by any who desire to see a full and complete realization of the dawn of which the political horizon appears to give promise.

287. Classification.—The former classification of higher secondary, secondary, higher elementary and elementary has given place to the classification: higher secondary, secondary, higher grade, primary. The higher grade school gives an education of a practical nature, complete in itself, tending to equip a boy or girl to be able to take some definite position in life as soon as he or she leaves school. It does not aim at turning out a skilled craftsman: but like the central schools that have been instituted in England, aims at giving a good general education with a bias towards some particular kind of work, and it claims that because of the good general education and the particular bias its pupils are likely to be better craftsmen. Not all elementary schools can develop at once into this type, or perhaps wish to develop. The higher grade school teaches a curriculum designed for infants and classes I to VI, and in addition one or more of the practical courses prescribed for these schools (in classes VII and VIII), and it has been decided to allow a term of five years in which schools shall arrive at a decision whether so to develop or to remain elementary schools.

288. Secondary schools.—These formerly prepared pupils for the Cambridge senior, junior and preliminary examinations. In the previous quinquennium the preliminary was for educational reasons dropped, and the cycle increased by the adoption of the higher local examination for selected pupils. In this quinquennium the Cambridge Syndicate has from 1918 established a further examination called the higher school certificate examination, and has decided to eliminate the higher local. It has also in recent years introduced regulations for the subdivision of the old senior and junior local examinations into the senior certificate A, the senior local, the junior certificate and the junior local examinations, the certificate examinations being controlled by more rigid conditions. The new higher school certificate examination, to be prepared for by the thorough study of a selected group of subjects and a more general study of selected subsidiary subjects, is at once the completion of a good general education and for those who proceed to a University an entrance to more thorough and scholarly study, and in present circumstances offers the secondary schools of Bengal an admirable opportunity ty of developing the work at the top of the school. The University of Calcutta has been generous and alert to appreciate the innovation, and in the terms here quoted in full as valuable and interesting regulations has offered facilities to the European schools which may serve to bridge the present gap between European education and University education. As the statement is not infrequently heard that the University does not encourage European students to join the University, we wish to record our view that, whatever basis there may have been for this belief in the past, the facilities now offered are generous, and, if accepted, will do much for the higher education of the domiciled community.

289. Regulations regarding recognition of the local examination of the Cambridge University by the Calcutta University.—The Regulations are as follows:—

I. (a) That a student who has passed the Cambridge Senior Local Examination in English Composition and Literature (Arithmetic, Geometry, Algebra), Mathematics, a classical language and any two of the following: History, Geography, Trigonometry with Analytical Geometry or Calculus; Applied Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics, Experimental Science, Physical Geography, may, for the purpose of admission to the examinations, and courses of this University, be regarded as having passed the Matriculation Examination (provided the requirements of the existing regulation about age are satisfied).

(b) That in the case of women, the classical language be interpreted as any language other than English or an Indian vernacular and Mathemtics be as Arithmetic together with Botany or Physical Geography.

(c) That any non-European applying for exemption from the Matriculation Examination under the foregoing regulation may, at the discretion of the Syndicate, be required to give evidence or proof of proficiency in his vernacular.

II. (a) That a student who, having passed the Matriculation Examination of this University or of any examination that may be recognised as equivalent to the Matriculation Examination of this University, and who, after a further course of study recognised as satisfactory by the University, has passed the Cambridge Higher School Certificate Examination in Group II offering (1) Latin or French or German or an Oriental classical language; (2) English including (a) Shakespeare, (b) English Literature, (c) Prescribed Books, in the English Essay compulsory on all candidates, and in two of the following subsidiary subjects: (i) Logic, (ii) Mathematics (3 papers); (3) English History or English Colonial History or Modern European History or Greek History or Roman History (any two); (4) Physics or Chemistry or Botany or Physical Geography, shall, for the purpose of admission to the courses and examinations of this University, be regarded as having passed the Intermediate Examination in Arts.

(b) That any non-European applying for exemption from the Intermediate Examination in Arts under the foregoing regulation may, at the discretion of the Syndicate, be required to give evidence or proof of proficiency in his vernacular.

III. (a) That a student who, having passed the Matriculation Examination of this University or any examination that may be recognised as equivalent to it, and who, after a further course of study recognised as satisfactory by the University, has passed the Cambridge Higher School Certificate Examination in Group IV offering (a) either Physics or Chemistry or Experimental Science with Botany or Elementary Biology or Physical Geography and Geology, (b) Subsidiary subject—English Literature (with compulsory English Essay), (c) two of the following subsidiary subjects: Mathematics (3 papers), Botany, Physical Geography, may, for the purpose of admission to the courses and examinations of this University, be regarded as having passed the Intermediate Examination in Science.

(b) That any non-European applying for exemption from the Intermediate Examination in Science under the foregoing regulation may, at the discretion of the Syndicate, be required to give evidence or proof of proficiency in his vernacular.

IV. That while the present rule as to age for admission to the Matriculation Examination of this University remains in force exemption granted under these regulations shall not entitle any one to sit for the Intermediate Examination under the age of eighteen years, and the final under the age of twenty years, and that any modification of the present rule shall be followed by a suitable modification of this regulation.

V. That the existing regulations granting exemption under certain conditions from the Matriculation and Intermediate Examinations to students who have passed the Cambridge Senior Local Examination shall be applicable only to those who have passed this Examination in or before 1918.

Little advantage has yet been taken of this offer; the reason is to be ascribed to conditions other than disabilities inherent in the Examination System of the European Schools. It is hoped that the Dacca University will adopt the same policy.

290. Changes in examinations.—A further modification of examination procedure calls for notice. It was formerly necessary, in order to fulfil certain requirements of the European Schools Code, for all candidates at the Cambridge Examinations in Bengal to take a vernacular test. This was for many years purely departmental, and the attitude of some schools towards it was insincere and inconsistent with discipline. Recently the Cambridge Syndicate has consented to include in its curricula a scheme whereby candidates in India may be examined in the languages, classical and vernacular, of the country. These languages are now an intrinsic element in the Cambridge Examinations, to the great advantage of their teaching and study. In Bengal, Bengali or Hindi or Urdu is usually chosen. It is early to expect results of the innovation, but the courtesy of the Cambridge Syndicate is very much to be appreciated.

291. Consequences of change.—In order adequately to discuss the probable consequences of these changes a conference of the heads of European secondary schools were held in February 1922. The decisions may be summarised thus. A considerable body of opinion existed against the elimination of the junior examinations, but it was agreed that the schools should advance one stage and be graded as follows :—(a) Higher Secondary—preparing pupils for the Senior Certificate and the Higher School Certificate; (b) Secondary—preparing pupils for the Senior Certificate. This was under consideration at the end of the quinquennium.

292. Revision of the Code.—The regulations in force are in many respects inadequate to present conditions. Development of opinion and practice has been great since they were framed in 1910 and it has long been felt that improvement is possible. Various conferences have been held, to deal with this and other matters, and some progress towards adequate revision had been made by the end of the quinquennium. The most important questions are :—

(a) Whether the rule limiting Indians to 15 per cent. of the total roll should be modified or abrogated. The conference of February 1922 recommended—(1) that all limitations on the admission of non-Europeans into European schools should be eliminated from the Code, (2) that the school authorities be the sole judges as to the percentage of non-Europeans which they are prepared to admit, (3) that in boarding schools such non-Europeans as are admitted shall conform to the arrangements which the school is able to make for them, (4) that in the Code Jews and Armenians be classified as Europeans and (5) that scholarships awarded under the Code for merit in competition should be open to all pupils in European schools without any limitation of nationality.

(b) Whether scholarships and stipends given for any reason other than or in addition to merit as judged by school work should not be restricted to schools of a particular type or types, e.g., to schools which are of the nature of orphanages or charity schools.

(c) Whether there should not be a regrading of schools according to the work done and the examinations taken, with a view to bringing European schools in Bengal into closer correspondence with standards and practice in England.

(d) Whether an attempt should be made to develop European secondary schools, or some of them, into intermediate colleges working in affiliation with the University of Calcutta, and looking also to the Dacca University, where a Hall or Hostel might be instituted to encourage Europeans and Anglo-Indians to study for University Degrees—a view strongly urged by one influential section of the community.

These, and other proposals, are under consideration.

GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS AT KURSEONG.

Dow Hill Training College.

293. Numbers.—It is satisfactory to record that the Training College in 1922 reached once again its full complement of students. These figures show the number of students during the quinquennium :—

Year.	1917-18.	1918-19.	1919-20.	1920-21.	1921-22.
Number of senior students	8	10	7	7	9
Number of junior students	10	8	9	5	8
Number of students who passed out and obtained their certificate—
Seniors	8	8	6	4	2

This present desire of women to qualify as trained teachers is particularly encouraging in view of the great need which still exists for trained teachers.

294. New schemes.—A question which has recently been carefully discussed and which is of far-reaching importance is the need for ensuring that the students in training shall obtain higher academic qualifications. For this purpose the value and suitability of the Cambridge Higher School Certificate Examination has been specially considered. This would on all accounts seem to be the most suitable in that, while it demands a suitable standard of attainment, it has already been accorded a degree of recognition both in England and in Bengal to justify its selection for the purpose in view. It is hoped that the scheme which is now being fully elaborated may soon be operative. One essential feature will be the need of extending the training from two to probably three years. Another scheme under discussion, initiated by Miss Davies, the acting Principal, contemplates the training of a limited number of Indian girls who will be accommodated in a cottage specially constructed and arranged for them, where they can live in their own way, while in all respects members of the college. This association, it is believed, will be good for all concerned. Details are not at present fully worked out but the scheme is of special interest in relation to the proposals for free admission of non-Europeans to European schools.

Dow Hill School for girls and Victoria School for boys.

295. Building schemes.—There are three main points under which the progress of these institutions may be summarised: expansion, staff, control—

(a) During the quinquennium, schemes of expansion involving additional buildings have been considered and worked out in detail. These concern in one case both schools, while each institution has separately developed its own programme of expansion. In the first place reference may be made to the joint hospital which has been recently completed for both schools, and which stands on its own flat in a position between Victoria and Dow Hill. It consists of a centre block with two wings. The centre block contains quarters for a sister-in-charge and two nurses, together with the necessary medical and surgical administration rooms. The north wing, containing in its two storeys four wards in all, is for the girls of Dow Hill School. The south wing which has equal accommodation is for the boys of Victoria School. Upon the same flat are also the necessary kitchens, godowns and servants' quarters and other out-houses.

(b) Amongst building schemes which concern primarily one or other only of the two schools may be mentioned that for rehousing the servants of the Dow Hill School. This has been completed and the servants are now housed in these new and excellent quarters. This is not only a sanitary measure, but makes possible a further extension at Dow Hill, the effect of which will ultimately be to increase the boarding accommodation up to a maximum of 250 girls.

(c) Owing in part to the munificent donation of Rs. 10 lakhs made by Sir Percy Newson towards European and Indian Education it has been possible to work out plans for a new dormitory building at Dow Hill School. Of that sum, Rs. 2 lakhs was, with the approval of the donor, set aside for this purpose, and the remainder, amounting probably to some Rs. 3½ lakhs, will have to be found from other sources. Orders have been given that a start should be made with the erection of the new building according to the plans which have been approved, but it will be possible at first only to put up as much of the new building as the sum immediately available will pay for; this will provide accommodation for some 60 girls with quarters for matrons. It is hoped, however, that the whole scheme may shortly be completed. At present owing to lack of accommodation numbers of applications for admission have to be refused each year, and the school has in consequence an inordinately long waiting list of those seeking entry. That, however, may be a cause for satisfaction. In the one respect it is valuable evidence that the school is doing good work, and supplying a much felt need, and that the scheme of expansion is fully justified.

(d) At Victoria School plans have been prepared and accepted for the conversion of the old commercial block into a preparatory school for small boys who will thus be separated in all matters from the boys in the main boys who will thus be separated in all matters from the boys in the main school. The work was actually started in 1920-21, but owing to lack of of numbers in the main school, and is therefore to be considered as urgent.

(e) In addition to these schemes there are others, some of which have been completed and some which are still awaiting an allocation of funds. These are chiefly schemes for minor alterations or for the erection of smaller additional buildings the necessity of which arises out of the general scheme of expansion.

(f) Among the schemes which deserve attention in the future, two may be especially stated. Victoria School will require to be re-roofed, very probably in the ensuing winter. This must be considered as very urgent. Another imperative need is for further accommodation at Victoria School for staff, and more particularly must adequate provision be made of quarters for married masters, a matter which is receiving the attention of the Governing Body.

296. Staff.—During the quinquennium the necessity of reorganizing the staff at the two Government schools at Kurseong has been continually urged. The former terms of service under which they were engaged acted very hardly in the case of the assistant teachers, with the result that, when in the early part of the quinquennium prices made a very considerable rise, their case became acute and it was impossible to fill the vacancies that occurred. In 1918, therefore, an immediate measure of alleviation was given by means of compensatory local allowances, and it was understood that this temporary measure should not prejudice nor postpone a complete reorganisation of the staff. During 1921-22 that was finally carried into effect with the result that the assistant teachers are now in a satisfactory position. The following is the brief resumé of the scheme adopted and now in force:—

The reorganisation scheme—General.

1. All posts are now regarded as outside the graded services.

2. Teachers already on the staff, if appointed to a specialist post, started on the minimum of that scale : if put on any other scale, at one increment above the total of their previous pay and compensatory local allowance.

3. All salary scale now represents consolidated pay and local allowances have been abolished.

Dow Hill Training College.

Three Lecturers on Rs. 400—20—600.

Suitable provision of a similar nature has been made for the subsidiary and clerical staff, while the scale of pay for menials has also been put on a sound basis. In the case of the teaching and the subsidiary staff these scales of pay carry with them the right of free furnished quarters, but there is no provision or allowance for board. The reorganised scales were introduced early in 1922 with retrospective effect from 1st of September 1921.

297. Control.—The quinquennium has seen a considerable change in the system of control of these two schools. Government have recently appointed Governing Bodies representative of various interests with powers of control and administration similar to those of certain other Governing Bodies of Government educational institutions. These Governing Bodies held their first meeting in May 1921. The full Board meets twice a year, usually in May and October. At the second meeting last year, a Standing Committee was appointed consisting of the Inspector of European Schools, the heads of the two schools and all the local members of the Governing Body. This Committee, meeting once a month, transacts on behalf of the Governing Body all the necessary current or urgent business. The meetings of this Committee have been very well attended and great benefit has resulted from this arrangement.

A further measure in control may be mentioned. In the reorganization scheme of the staff of the Dow Hill Training College and School it has now been finally stated that the Lady Principal will be in charge of both the Training College and the School, and that will be when the school has 250 pupils.

298 (A) The Sussex Trust.—In 1918 Mr. (now Sir Percy) Newson made a gift to Government of 10 lakhs of rupees for these purposes :—

(1) One lakh to establish a scholarship or scholarships for a European boy or boys at a University or other place of higher education in the United Kingdom.

(2) One lakh for a similar scholarship for a European girl.

(3) One lakh to provide opportunities of higher education for European and Anglo-Indian boys and girls.

(4) One lakh to assist selected students of the Bengal Engineering College to opportunities to higher engineering education in the United Kingdom.

(5) Two and a half lakhs to be transferred to the Irish Christian Brethren to enable them to build an orphanage for Anglo-Indian boys. This is approaching completion on an excellent site at Asansol.

(6) Two lakhs towards the cost of additional dormitory accommodation at Dow Hill School, Kurseong.

(7) One lakh for the establishment and maintenance of a primary school for Indian boys in Calcutta.

(8) Rs. 50,000 for the education of children of the depressed classes.

These endowments enabled the Director of Public Instruction, who is Administrator of the Trust, now known as the Sussex Trust, to send during the quinquennium 5 arts students to Universities in England and 4 engineering students to Engineering firms in England, and to give other opportunities to a large number of boys and girls in India.

298(B) Bruce institution.—The control of the institution is vested, as previously, in a board of 12 governors, of whom 7 are appointed by Government and 5 are ex-officio. The Director of Public Instruction is the Honorary Secretary to the Board.

299. State scholarships for Europeans.—Four were awarded to candidates from Bengal, 1 to a boy for the study of History at Oxford, 1 to a girl for the study of Modern Languages at Oxford, and 2 to girls for the study of Medicine in London.

The capital funds of the institution now amount to Rs. 10,69,400.

300. The Calcutta Domiciled Community Enquiry, 1918-19.—This Enquiry which calls for notice in a report on education, had its origin in correspondence that took place in 1918 between the late Right Reverend Bishop Lefroy, Metropolitan of India, and Mr. J. H. Hechle, relative to the desirability of measures for a closer co-ordination of effort in dealing with the social problems affecting the community. A main committee of eight gentlemen was appointed in a public meeting in July 1918, and other committees and sub-committees were subsequently appointed. A complete survey of the conditions of the community was made, and the report completed by December 1919, under the headings—General, Housing, Education, Technical Education, Employment, Health and Physique, Crime and Drunkenness, Available means of Relief, Hostels. The report has been printed by the Bengal Secretariat Press, and is a valuable basis for the consideration of all matters relating to European education. The findings under the heads of Education and Technical Education may be conveniently quoted from the conclusions with which the report begins.

Education.

Findings :—

(a) No child is debarred from attending school.

(b) The education provided gives the children of the community little chance.

(c) The chief cause is the deplorably low scale of salaries offered to teachers.

Recommendations :—

(1) Preparatory schools should be strengthened.

(2) Elementary education to be simple and practical, with the object of turning out skilled workers.

(3) Secondary and university education—greater facilities needed.

(4) Curricula in all grades of schools should be lightened. Object : to secure greater thoroughness.

(5) Teaching in all grades of schools should be more practical.

(6) Correlation of the work of schools with the requirements of employers, with special preparation for livelihood, but should not be allowed to curtail a complete course of general education. No independent employment should be open to boys and girls below the age of 16.

(7) With regard to teachers it is essential—

(a) that a lay teaching profession be created by a proper and efficient system of training and by prohibiting schools from employing other than qualified teachers;

(b) that to obtain such men and women a career must be offered;

(c) that, therefore, the present scale of salaries must be completely revised;

(d) that a system of compulsory provident funds be introduced;

(e) with regard to (c), the special importance of expedition in the introduction of reform is urged; and

(f) Government must be looked to for assistance.

Technical education.

Findings:—

(a) Defective general education in very many cases makes assimilation of technical knowledge impossible.

(b) Various proposals made since 1886 for meeting the need for technical instruction.

(c) Apart from Sibpore the only progress made has been by private agency—

(i) in Railway and Engineering workshops;

(ii) in the Calcutta Technical Evening School founded and maintained by private agency, assisted by Government and housed in a Government building.

(d) Favoured treatment neither possible nor desirable.

Recommendations:—

(1) Improvement in general education given in schools. This is a sine qua non.

(2) The creation of the Technical Education Board in Calcutta.

(3) The establishment of a Central Technical Institute in Calcutta controlled largely by employers of apprentice labour.

(4) The absorption of the Calcutta Commercial Institute by the Technical Institute and the opening of the branches of instruction, as need arises in textiles, tanning, forestry, telegraphy, etc.

CHAPTER X.

The education of Muhammadans.

301. Proportion of Moslems to students of all creeds in general institutions.—

	Arts Colleges.	Percentage.	Professional Colleges.	Percentage.	High Schools.	Percentage.	Middle English Schools.	Percentage.	Middle Vernacular Schools.	Percentage.	Primary Schools.	Percentage.	Total.
1916-17	1,639	8·8	303	6·8	45,179	20·5	54,039	33·3	8,258	34·1	680,273	49·5	789,691
1921-22	2,175	12·8	440	9·4	28,928	14·9	28,207	25·1	3,948	28·7	755,553	52·6	819,251

302. Stages of instruction.—This table, which deals with institutions and not with stages of instruction, shows the curious phenomenon that while in Arts Colleges and Primary Schools, Moslems have increased both absolutely in number and relatively in proportion to students of all other creeds, in the intermediate stages they have lost ground. An analysis of the figures for stages gives the following percentage of Moslems in the various stages of instruction to students of all creeds:- -

	1916-17.	1921-22.
High stage	19·7	17·1
Middle stage	24·3	20·9
High and Middle stages combined ...	22·0	19·0
Primary stage	46·6	49·5

The difference between the percentages in the two tables is due to the fact that in high and middle schools there are primary classes.

303. Inspection of maktabs.—The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, submitted to Government proposals for withdrawing one Sub-Inspector of Schools from the general staff in one district in each of the five divisions and for placing all the maktabs in the district under his charge. Government sanctioned the introduction of the scheme as an experimental measure for 3 years in the districts of Howrah, Murshidabad, Dacca, Tippera and Rangpore.

304. Recognition of old course madrasahs.—During the quinquennium the Dar-ul-Ulum madrasah at Chittagong and the Islamia madrasah at Noakhali were temporarily recognised for the purpose of sending up candidates for the Central Madrasah Examination.

305. Elimination of old course from Government madrasahs at Dacca and Chittagong.—The old course of studies was completely eliminated from the Dacca and Chittagong madrasahs during the quinquennium.

Hostels for Muhammadan students in Calcutta.

306. Continuance of the Taylor Hostel.—The period of 5 years for which the non-collegiate Muhammadan Hostel was opened by Government at No. 61/1-C., Wellington Street, under the name of "Taylor Hostel" in July 1915 having expired, the Government of India sanctioned its continuance for another 3 years.

307. Carmichael Hostel.—A non-collegiate hostel under the name of "The Carmichael Hostel" under the control of the University was opened in 1918, with accommodation for 184 boarders.

308. Revision of the course of studies for the junior department of madrasahs.—On the suggestion of the Assistant Director of Public Instruction for Muhammadan Education Government sanctioned in January 1918 the formation of a committee to consider the revision of the courses of studies for the junior department of madrasahs sanctioned under Government Resolution No. 450 T-G., dated 31st September 1914, and to revise the list of text-books prescribed under the resolution. The committee met in February 1918 under the presidency of the Assistant Director of Public Instruction for Muhammadan Education, Bengal, and made certain suggestions with regard to the course of studies and text-books prescribed for junior madrasahs. The recommendations of the committee with a few exceptions were accepted by Government and a revised syllabus for the junior department of madrasahs came into force in 1919.

309. Maintenance grants for madrasahs.—During the quinquennium an additional sum of Rs. 1,15,000 (Rs. 25,000 in 1917-18, Rs. 25,000 in 1918-19, Rs. 30,000 in 1919-20 and Rs. 35,000 in 1920-21) was provided for grants-in-aid to madrasahs under the reform scheme. There were no new grants for these institutions during 1921-22, but as the number of madrasahs has increased considerably and as the scheme is an expensive one additional grants will be necessary.

310. Conference of Special Assistant Inspectors.—During the quinquennium a conference of five Special Assistant Inspectors of Schools was held in Calcutta on the 4th and 5th of July 1921 with the Assistant Director of Public Instruction for Muhammadan Education as President. They passed various resolutions which are under the consideration of the Department.

311 Opening of Special Islamic Intermediate Classes and the Institution of Islamic Intermediate Examination.—The scheme for the establishment of the Islamic Matriculation Examination in 1919 and the holding of an Islamic Intermediate Examination from 1921 were sanctioned by Government in General Department letter No. 61 Edn., dated 25th April 1918.

312. Islamic Matriculation Examination.—The Islamic Matriculation Examination under the reform scheme was held in 1919 for the first time, Dacca being the only centre ; 42 candidates appeared, of whom 27 or 64·29 per cent. were successful. A second centre was opened at Chittagong in 1920. In this year 50 candidates appeared and 29 passed, and in 1921 46 appeared and 35 passed.

The first year Islamic Intermediate Class was opened at the Dacca Madrasah in July 1919, the second year in 1920; the students first appeared at the Islamic Intermediate Examination held in April 1921, Dacca being the only centre Eighteen appeared and 16 passed.

All these examinations were conducted by the department with the assistance of an Advisory Board, and certificates were granted by the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

313. Transfer of the control of the Islamic Matriculation and Intermediate Examinations from the Director of Public Instruction to the Intermediate and Secondary Education Board, Dacca.—The control of the Islamic Matriculation and Intermediate Examinations was transferred to the Intermediate and Secondary Education Board, Dacca, when this was instituted.

Mohsin Fund.

314. Conversion of the Mohsin Fund grant for short-fee payment into stipend.—The system of short-fee payments was found to be unsatisfactory. As the number of Muhammadan students has considerably increased since the system was introduced, the amount available could not meet any appreciable portion of the fees payable by the Muhammadan students in schools and colleges. It was therefore decided that the object of the grant would be much better attained by giving some material assistance to a few boys rather than by giving small sums to a large number of boys. The amount available has accordingly been converted into 75 college stipends of Rs. 5 a month tenable for 2 years, 2 technical stipends of Rs. 5 for 3 years, 113 school stipends of Rs. 4 for 1 year, and 114 school stipends of Rs. 3 for 1 year. Several Mohsin scholarships of different values were formerly reserved for students of Government madrasahs at Dacca, Hooghly, Chittagong and Rajshahi: these have been converted into stipends of Rs. 5 a month. These stipends together with others—those sanctioned for madrasah students—were redistributed to Government and private madrasahs.

315. Reservation of scholarships for Muhammadan girls.—There was formerly no scholarship reserved for Muhammadan girls, but in 1920 the following were reserved:—

2 Middle English scholarships out of 18.

2 Middle Vernacular scholarships out of 16.

2 Upper Primary scholarships out of 16.

17 Lower Primary scholarships out of 158.

316. Separation of the Hooghly Madrasah from the control of the Principal, Hooghly College.—The Hooghly madrasah and the Hooghly College being in the same building the madrasah was formerly under the general control of the Principal of the Hooghly College. This was altered in 1922. The madrasah is now under the control of its own Superintendent.

317. Calcutta madrasah.—In February 1915, a committee was appointed to revise the curriculum of the Calcutta madrasah. The committee met in July 1915 and drew up a report but in such general terms that no action could be taken. In February 1920, Government again appointed a committee to enquire into the general conditions of the madrasah and to make proposals for improvement. The Committee's report has just been received.

318. Junior madrasah examination.—During the quinquennium the junior madrasah examinations were held annually. In 1918 the examination was held in March: 203 candidates appeared, 94 passed; in 1919 in February, 343 appeared and 135 passed; in 1920 the examination was held twice—once early in January and once at the end of December: 490 appeared at the first examination, 221 passed; and 650 at the second, 460 passed; in 1921 the examination was held in November: 532 candidates appeared and 463 passed. The examination has been held a little earlier every succeeding year, so that it may ultimately be held in October and the results published in December before the madrasah session begins in January.

CHAPTER XI.

Education of Special Classes.

(A) Education of Chiefs and Nobles.

319. Nawab Bahadur's Institution.—The only institution of this nature is the Nawab Bahadur's Institution at Murshidabad, where boys of the Nizamat family are taught. They reside in a special hotsel managed by a European, assisted by a qualified Mussalman. The number of boys, 26, was the same in 1921-22 as in 1916-17, while the expenditure from provincial revenues was Rs. 4,400, against Rs. 3,740 in 1916-17.

(B) Education of Backward Classes.

320. Numbers.—The following table gives, according to the census of 1921, the approximate numbers of persons included in the castes or tribes which are regarded, in terms of the Government of India's orders, as depressed :—

A.—Depressed classes proper.

	Caste or tribe.	Number.		Caste or tribe.	Number.
1.	Bagdi	895,319	12.	Kora	29,881
2.	Bauri	302,891	13.	Mal	117,403
3.	Bhuinmali	79,605	14.	Muchi	413,578
4.	Bhuiya	59,936	15.	Munda	98,628
5.	Bhumij	78,795	16.	Namasudra	1,997,441
6.	Chamar	150,689	17.	Oraon	201,430
7.	Dhoba	226,681	18.	Pod	588,394
8.	Dom	149,450	19.	Santhal	710,775
9.	Dosadh	39,261	20.	Sunri	92,229
10.	Hari	148,329	21.	Tiyar	175,721
11.	Kaora	110,651

*B.—Aboriginal and Hill tribes.

	Caste or tribe.	Number.		Caste or tribe.	Number
1.	Chakmas	54,362	4.	Hajangs	25,016
2.	Garos	42,728	5.	Koches	46,619
3.	Hadis	26,212	6.	Tipras	35,950

*C.—Criminal tribes.

	Caste or tribe.	Number.		Caste or tribe.	Number.
1.	Bediyas	8,503	3.	Kaoras, 24-Parganas ...	64,483
2.	Gains	380	4.	Lodhas	7,403

* In paragraphs B and C the figures quoted in Government of Bengal, General Department letter No. Edn. 7, dated 2nd January 1917 have been reproduced in the absence of the census figures for 1921.

321. Total number of pupils of depressed classes.—

	1916-17.		Total.	1921-22.		Total.
	Boys.	Girls.		Boys.	Girls.
Arts Colleges	194	...	194	197	...	197
High Stage	2,022	...	2,022	1,368	...	1,368
Middle Stage	2,684	23	2,707	1,928	27	1,955
Primary Stage	70,861	8,908	79,769	80,080	11,183	91,263
Special and Indigenous Institutions.	1,293	42	1,335	1,586	183	1,769
Total ...	77,054	8,973	86,027	85,159	11,393	96,552

Thus it will be seen that against a large comparative decrease in the number attending high and middle schools—a decrease corresponding with the dercease in the number of pupils in classes other than depressed—must be set a very substantial increase in the number attending primary and special schools. This indeed is one of the most gratifying features of the quinquennium, for it shows that classes hitherto almost inaccessible are coming within the influence of new forces.

Education of Namasudras.

322. Numbers.—

	1916-17.	1921-22.
Arts Colleges	100	144
High Stage	1,489	1,025
Middle Stage	1,690	1,117
Primary Stage	37,225	45,978
Special and indigenous Institutions ...	601	1,009
Total ...	41,105	49,273

Thus the advance of primary education among Namasudras noted in the last quinquennial report is steadily continued, and Mr. Hornell's remark, that " their present position in education and their present social advancement bring them under a higher category " than that of a depressed class gains added point. The drop in the numbers of Namasudras in the higher stages of school education is a part of the general decline of higher education in the province, and is probably due to the same causes, though less to political than to economic. The community is raising its status rapidly, and, arguing mainly from its consistent educational advance, is constantly making out a case for being regarded as other than backward. There are special hostels for Namasudras at Dacca, Perojpur and Jhalakati attached to Government schools. Efforts are also made to provide separate accommodation for them in aided and unaided schools. It has been reported from the Bakarganj district that a number of schools—high and middle—have recently been started by the Namasudras for their children. The community was helped by the Depressed Classes Mission and Christian Missionary bodies.

Education of Santhals.

323. General.—The Boards of Sonthal Education in the districts of Midnapore and Bankura, formed during the previous quinquennium continued their work, both advisory and executive. The recurring grants made to these bodies were, in 1921-22, Rs. 25,158, as against Rs. 10,257 in 1916-17. During the quinquennium similar schemes were sanctioned for the district of Dinajpur. In Dinajpur, however, six out of ten new schools sanctioned have been built and opened, while the houses for two more schools have been constructed; two special lower primary scholarsiphs created, and a recurring grant of Rs. 3,924 made by Government. It is probable that a modification of arrangements including a special ad hoc committee with wider powers, would lead to greater improvement.

324. Education of other backward aboriginal and criminal classes.—(I) In Dacca Division, the Inspector reports:—

Of the 1,012 pupils of aboriginal and hill tribes the Mymensingh district returned 870. They were mostly in schools among the hill tribes living at the foot of the Garo hills. The progress of Hajangs and Garos was noticeable. The former had four boys in the high and eight boys in the middle stage of instruction. The latter had one boy in each of these two stages. In the same district there were 39 schools including six managed by the district board, chiefly intended for the aboriginal and hill tribes. One of these schools was of the middle English school status. The number of these schools on 31st March 1917 was 30. The Mymensingh District Board, the Australian Baptist Mission and the Society for the Improvement of Backward Classes contributed towards the maintenance of these schools. The Baptist Mission managed 9 primary schools attended by the hill tribes.

It may be interesting to note that 29 Dhupi, 10 Bhuinmali, 13 Tiyar and 3 Muchi boys were in the high stage of instruction. There were two special schools for Muchis in the Dacca district. One Muchi boy of the Dacca district was elected to a Middle Scholarship. There were two schools, one boys' and the other girls', in the town of Faridpur, taught by Buna teachers. The boys' school had 15 pupils and the girls' school 11 pupils under instruction.

(II) In Chittagong :—

All the schools in the Chittagong Hill Tracts are chiefly meant for aboriginal classes who form the majority of the population. Except the Rangamati High English School and two training classes at Rangamati and Chandraghona, others belong to the primary class. The Rangamati High English School had 193 pupils on its roll in 1921-22 and cost Rs. 21,325 against Rs. 10,219 in 1916-17. There were 172 primary, 3 special and 38 indigenous schools for aboriginal pupils. Of the two training classes, one was attached to the Government high English and the other to an aided middle English school, both for the benefit of the Hill Tracts. There was one hostel attached to the Government high English school (which accommodated 50 free boarders) and three attached to primary schools. Besides the above, 1 unaided high English school at Ramu, 12 primary schools for Arakani Maghas (5 under Government and 7 under private management), and 37 Keyaung schools in the Cox's Bazar subdivision, one primary school in the Chittagong municipality and 2 Tipra schools in the district of Tippera were also intended for the aboriginal pupils. The total number of aboriginal pupils was 3,309 against 2,243 in 1916-17.

Education of fishermen.

325. Dacca district.—The Inspector reports:—

There were three special primary schools for the children of fishermen in Dacca district. Instruction was given in these schools in boat-repairing and net-making in addition to the three R's. Boys in these schools were taught free and the poorer boys were supplied with books and other necessary materials. These schools received grants at special rates from the department and the district board. Besides these three schools, the fishermen of the district had four other ordinary primary schools for the education of their children. The total enrolments in these 7 schools were 275. The total cost to Government on account of the Fishery Schools was Rs. 583.

Education of children of labourers in tea-gardens and in factories.

326. Jalpaiguri.—Tea-estate schools decreased from 67 to 37. Of these 5 were Government-managed or A class schools, 19 aided or B class schools, 13 unaided or C class schools. Pupils were 538. The cost to Government was Rs. 1,901, and to the district board Rs. 524.

327. Darjeeling.—In Darjeeling tea-garden schools were 57 against 69 in 1916-17, and pupils 1,332 against 1,380. Generally a tea-garden school gets Rs. 12 a month from Government on condition that the manager of the estate contributes Rs. 8 a month and provides house and furniture. The total cost of these schools amounted to Rs. 9,496 including Rs. 5,256 from provincial revenues. The total expenditure in 1916-17 was Rs. 8,839 including Rs. 5,802 from provincial revenues. The decline in numbers is attributed to the general depression in the tea-market, and the prevailing distress which compelled many of the children to leave school and work as whole-time labourers.

328. Education of children employed in factories.—There were three schools exclusively meant for the education of these children; of these two were started by the authorities of the Rifle and the Metal and Steel Factories at Ichapur. The third school is at Titagarh. The maktabs and primary schools in the mill areas are mostly attended by the children of mill hands, and by children employed in the mills. Their number in 1921-22 was 2,500 against only 1,000 in 1916-17. Near the Titagarh Mills in the 24-Parganas there is a Telegu Primary School where Telegu children employed in the factory learn the three R's.

329. Educational facilities in the colonisation areas in the Sunderbans.—The scheme formulated during the previous quinquennium for improving primary education in the colonisation areas in the Sunderbans materialised during the quinquennium. Ten primary schools under the management of the Bakarganj District Board were started and 194 Magh pupils, including 10 girls, attended them.

Education of defectives.

330. Calcutta.—In Calcutta, the Deaf and Dumb School and the School for Blind Children have been transferred to the control of the Director of Industries. The work of the former school, long carried on by the enthusiasm of its Principal, Mr. J. C. Banerji, continues to develop despite his lamented death. There is a scheme under consideration for the removal of the School for the Blind from its present restricted quarters to ample accommodation in the suburbs. The education of deaf-mutes is carried to the Upper-Primary stage, while the blind add cane-work, basket-weaving and music. There were 429 pupils in the 4 schools of this kind, against 420 in 1917.

331. Dacca and Barisal.—There are two schools for deaf-mutes in the Dacca Division, one at Dacca, one at Barisal, both now under the control of the Director of Industries. Together, they had 36 pupils, against 25 in 1917.

332. Children's Home, Kurseong.—In 1918, the first school in India for deficient children was opened by Miss De Laplace at Kurseong. This school trains children who through physical or mental defects are unable to profit by the instruction given in an ordinary school. They are taught by means of special apparatus, special exercises and special discipline suited to the nature of each individual case, and already remarkable results have been achieved. Government pays a monthly grant-in-aid of Rs. 150, in addition to a capital grant of Rs. 30,000, made in 1919 for the purchase of a site.

333. Education of criminal tribes.—Owing to their nomandic and unsettled mode of life these tribes are not susceptible to the influence of education. An industrial settlement for one of these tribes called the Karwal Nats has been started at a place near Saidpur in the district of Rangpur. The management of this settlement has been placed in the hands of the Salvation Army, to which the payment of an annual grant-in-aid is made by Government. The average population of the settlement is about 214 adults and 89 children; various industries, such as weaving, carpet-making, etc., are taught.

334. Education of Jain students.—According to the returns the number of Jain students on 31st March 1922 was 727. Of these 9 were in arts colleges; 120 in secondary schools; 124 in primary schools; 47 in special schools and 427 in private institutions.

CHAPTER XII.

Private and Indigenous Institutions.

335. Numbers.—There were 1,840 private institutions, with 55,437 pupils, against 2,269 with 62,920. They include many types of school, teaching advanced courses in Arabic or Sanskrit, teaching the Koran, and giving extremely elementary knowledge through the vernacular; though there are also nondescript Middle and Higher Schools, which though not conforming to departmental standards, reach a fairly high level of efficiency. Thus the "private" institution ranges from such a foundation as the Santiniketan at Bolpur, under the guidance of Dr. Rabindra Nath Tagore to the primary school of less than 10 pupils. The decrease in numbers is due to the desire on the part of small Koran and elementary vernacular schools to come within the pale of recognition, and this desire is being fostered by the department, in pursuance of a policy of improvement.

336. Indigenous Sanskrit education.—As a result of a conference held in 1913, Government constituted in 1918, a Calcutta Sanskrit Association, with a Council consisting of fifteen ordinary members, two being elected by the pandits of East and West Bengal, the remainder nominated by Government, and five additional members, scholars trained in Western methods, also nominated by Government. The main body of the Association is called Convocation, and consists of a maximum of 500 members, whose suggestions relating to the encouragement of Sanskrit learning, when reported upon by the Council, are submitted to Government for consideration. Thus the Association is the general agent and adviser of Government in all matters concerning indigenous Sanskrit learning, it conducts examinations, grants titles, and performs in general all the functions previously assigned to the Sanskrit Examination Board. As a result, the tol is gradually coming within what might almost be called departmental standards, though there still remain many of the old type in which the Adhyapaka himself confers the titles.

CHAPTER XIII.

Physical and Moral Training.

337. Conditions of residence and discipline—General statistics of hostels or boarding houses.—(1) For Indian Students.—There were 836 hostels or boarding houses for Indians at the end of the year 1921-22 with 21,680 boarders against 746 with 20,903 in 1916-17. Of the total number of hostels at the end of the year 1921-22, 238 with 6,002 inmates were under public management, 244 with 6,199 inmates aided, and the rest unaided. The cost to Government was Rs. 2,60,379 against Rs. 1,43,929 in 1916-17.

(2) For European Students.—There were 45 hostels or boarding houses for Europeans and Anglo-Indians with 4,670 boarders at the end of the year 1921-22 against 35 hostels with 4,513 boarders at the end of 1916-17. Of these, 2 hostels with 301 boarders were managed by Government, 39 with 3,822 boarders aided and the rest unaided. The cost to Government was Rs. 3,50,435 in 1921-22 against Rs. 2,59,896 in 1916-17.

338. Statistics of hostels in Calcutta for Indian students.—In Calcutta there were at the end of 1921-22, 79 hostels with 4,830 boarders against 72 hostels with 3,749 boarders at the end of 1916-17.

339. Government hostels for Indian men and boys in Calcutta.—At the end of 1921-22, there were 8 under the management of Government with 823 boarders. At the end of 1916-17 there were 11 with 969 boarders.

340. Government hostels for Indian girls and women in Calcutta.—At the end of 1921-22, there were 6 under the management of Government with 80 boarders.

341. Conditions under which college and high school students in Calcutta reside.—Of 12,355 students on the rolls of Calcutta colleges on 31st March 1922, 2,134 were living in regular hostels (collegiate and non-collegiate), 731 in attached messes, and the rest in unattached messes, with parents and guardians, or in private lodgings. On the 31st March 1922, is limited to Rs. 3,000 subject to its being voted by the Legislative Council. Of these only 712 lived in hostels. The rest lived in messes, with parents and guardians, or in private lodgings.

342. Depressed classes' hostels.—Two hostels— one for Yogi and the other for Namasudra students—were opened by the University of Calcutta in 1918-19, in rented premises. The annual Government grant to the hostels is limited to Rs. 3,000 subject to its being voted by the Legislative Council. Forty-seven students were living in these hostels at the end of 1921-22.

343. Hostel accommodation for Muhammadans in Calcutta.—The continuance of the non-collegiate hostel for Muhammadan students which is situated in a rented house in Wellington Street has been sanctioned for a further period of 3 years. It has accommodation for 73 students and is managed and maintained by Government. The Elliott and Baker Madrasah hostels had altogther 296 on 31st March 1922; the former accommodates school boys and college students, the latter college students only. Both are managed by Government. The Carmichael Hostel, which was built by the University with the help of the Imperial grant of Rs. 10 lakhs and opened in 1917 has accommodation for 184 boarders.

344. Schemes postponed on account of the war. Of the schemes for new hostels which had to be postponed during the previous quinquennium on account of financial difficulties due to the war, no progress was made in connection with the hostel for the Presidency or the Bethune College; the project for Krishnagar College was revised, and it is now proposed to buy a house. For the Rajshahi College, a hostel in five blocks capable of accommodating 250 Hindu students and one for 50 Muhammadan students are under construction.

345. Grant to Calcutta University for Undergraduates' hostels in Calcutta.—With the help of the allotment of Rs. 13½ lakhs to the Calcutta University for the construction of Undergraduates' hostels in Calcutta the hostels attached to the City, Ripon, Bangabasi and Vidyasagar Colleges, and the Carmichael Hostel were erected. These hostels, capable of accommodating about 200 boarders each, were completed and occupied during the quinquennium. The Carmichael Hostel is reserved for Muhammadans.

346. Recurring Imperial grant for hostels.—The recurring Imperial grant of Rs. 1,32,000 assigned for the maintenance and upkeep of hostels in Bengal has been spent chiefly in supervision. In large hostels there is generally a Superintendent and an Assistant Superintendent, who are selected from the teaching staff. Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents of hostels attached to Government colleges and schools are paid wholly by Government; in aided hostels Government pays two-thirds of the cost of superintendence, the authorities of the schools and colleges concerned the rest. The Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents in all hostels are paid according to the scale prescribed by the department.

347. The Calcutta mess scheme.—As previously the Calcutta mess scheme is managed by the Students' Residence Committee of the Calcutta University with assistance from provincial revenues. The number of hostels and messes included in the Calcutta mess scheme was 32 at the end of 1921-22 with 1,627 inmates.

348. Cost of living.—The comparative cost of living in hostels, attached messes, and unattached messes during the period under review has been roughly as follows:—

Hostels.—The expenses (which include boarding charges) vary from Rs. 14 to Rs. 22 per month.

Attached messes.—The seat rents charged generally are Rs. 5 and Rs. 6 a month according to the quality of accommodation provided. The cost of messing is not uniform.

Unattached messes.—The average seat rents are lower than in attached messes, while the messing charges vary to suit the purse and inclination of the inmates.

The accommodation provided in both attached and unattached messes is inferior to that in hostels; the standard of sanitation and discipline in messes is also generally lower. Their attraction is in their cheapness. The observations made in the last review about the scanty supply of books, newspapers, and periodicals in students' messes also held good during the period under review.

349. The Dacca mess scheme.—As a result of the report submitted by Mr. S. N. Roy, I.C.S., who was deputed specially to investigate the condition of the messes in Dacca, a part of the old Secretariat buildings in Dacca was converted into a Hindu and a Muhammadan Hostel for the Dacca College, to which the Dacca College students originally living in messes were transferred and placed under the direct control of the Principal early in the quinquennium. Messes occupied by high caste Hindu and Muhammadan students were closed, but not the caste messes for Namasudra, Mahisya, Nath and Saha students of both the Dacca and Jagannath Colleges. The establishment of the Dacca University necessitated further changes in the organization of the Dacca mess scheme. In terms of Education Department Resolution No. 1011-Edn., dated the 7th May 1921, the Inspector of Residence of Students in Dacca has been placed under the Board of Intermediate and Secondary Education, and a standing committee has been appointed in connection with the residence of students.

350. Numbers.—The following figures show the number of students in the Daca Students, Residence Scheme during the five years under review:—

Year.	Number of messes.	Number of boarders.
1917-18	41	893
1918-19	41	904
1919-20	43	929
1920-21	37	714
1921-22	28	544

Of the 544 students in 1921-22, 207 were college students, and 337 were students of schools and madrasahs in the city; of the 28 houses occupied by the students, 8 were meant for college students and the remaining 20 for school boys and madrasah students.

351. Distribution of students by communities.—Of the total number of students residing in hostels and messes under the Dacca mess scheme, 108 were upper class Hindus among whom inter-dining is permissible, 16 Sahas, 11 Mahisyas, 31 Naths (Jogis), 9 Nath Brahmins, 65 Namasudras, 92 Christians, and 212 Muhammadans. All except the Namasudras pay seat rents according to the quality of accommodation. About two-thirds of the house rents is paid by the boarders and the balance by Government. For purposes of medical supervision the messes have been divided into five groups each in charge of a doctor.

352. Dacca University Halls.—The minimum seat rent prescribed for students residing in the Dacca University halls is Rs. 2 and the maximum Rs. 4 per mensem which covers charges for light, water, medical aid, conservancy, etc. The boarding charges amount to Rs. 10 or Rs. 12 per mensem. Special arrangements are made for the provision of books to poor students; students are also allowed to use library books free of cost.

353. Medical supervision of hostels.—Almost all large hostels in the Presidency are in charge of a doctor who receives an allowance for visiting one or more hostels. The hostels and messes in Calcutta and Dacca are divided into small groups, and the medical officer in charge of each group receives a prescribed remuneration; for the hostels attached to private institutions the authorities make individual arrangements.

354. Calcutta University Institute.—The Institute is doing much to provide a moral atmosphere and a larger life and culture for the college students of Calcutta. The Institute has a students' fund the income of which helps many poor students. The management of the Institute is vested in the general committee which includes some of the leading members of the educated community in Calcutta. The Institute receives a Government grant of Rs. 200 a month. In 1920-21, there were 775 members (senior and junior) of the Institute. The annual subscription payable by the junior members is Rs. 2. The Institute provides facilities for reading, sports, debates and social gatherings.

355. Control by parents.—In colleges little attempt is made by the staff to get into touch with the parents or guardians of students. Meetings of parents and guardians of school boys are, however, arranged on special occasions, such as Durbar Day, Prize Day, etc., but generally speaking little is done to enlist the co-operation of the parents or to ensure control over their wards.

356. Corporate life.—It is only in a few institutions that the existence of debating societies or sports makes it possible for teachers and pupils to exchange views outside school hours. Corporate life in the proper sense of the word is almost non-existent, and thrives only in hostels where the students find time to interest themselves in each other's affairs.

The effects of the non-co-operation movement.

357. Main incidents.—It may be well to recall in outline the main incidents in the long-continued efforts of agitators to wield for their own ends that boycott of all institutions which, whether Government-aided or not, are associated with that system of education which leads to a university degree. The first manifestations were a result of the Khilafat agitation which in August and September 1920 became prevalent in Calcutta. This produced some excitement in schools and colleges, and, hand in hand with non-co-operation, brought about in October a strike at the Calcutta Madrasah. Here, as throughout all the later disturbances, there is much evidence that the whole-hearted sympathisers among the strikers were largely outnumbered by those whom outside influences intimidated. Thus, for example, several of the students were deprived of their jaigirs as a result of their lack of sympathy with the combined movement. The backwash of this strike was felt at the Chittagong Madrasah, but it seems that the Mussalman element in the movement, seeing the lack of support at the time from Hindu sources, realised the disastrous effect of such a sectional upheaval, and in consequence, shrank from going to extremes. Thus for some three months there was, externally, little show of unrest. In early January, however, after the Students' Conference at Nagpur, a sudden demand arose from the students of many colleges that the institutions should be " nationalised." The students of the Central and Bangabasi Colleges led the way, and a statement was freely cast abroad that the authorities of these colleges, under pressure from their students, had cut adrift from the university system, and that Mr. C. R. Das had guaranteed all necessary financial support. Despite the haziness of the term " nationalisation, " despite any definite idea of the curriculum of the new " national " institutions (except that cotton-spinning by hand would apparently be the nucleus), the demand grew rapidly in extent and intensity, and quickly involved a large proportion of the student community. As a result, excitement and intimidation were rife in certain areas of Calcutta, and, largely as a precautionary means, the colleges of Calcutta with the exception of the Bengal Engineering College, Sibpur, the Medical College, the Post-graduate Classes and the Law College, were closed. This closure was criticised at the time as pusillanimous for it seemed clear that the demands as formulated were the demands of a small, very vocal, and highly organised minority, which as in similar circumstances universally, was for a time able to impose its will upon an unorganised majority. It is significant in this connection that Presidency College, surrounded as it was by hostile pickets and crowds and subjected to constant endeavour to sap its loyalty, stood firm. In the end, and in consonance with the action of other Calcutta colleges, Presidency College was closed. As a result, the loyal elements were no longer subjected to constant indignity and insidious argument, and the dispersal of students, whether well or ill-affected, to their homes brought them into contact with the moderating influnces of age and experience. Further, the hottest heads were given ample leisure to realise that the golden age promised them as a result of " national " education was but a fantasy, since the network of charka-spinning plus Urdu or Hindi teaching institutions refused to materialise, charm the agitator never so wisely.

358. Colleges.—Outside Calcutta, the main elements in the story were repeated. The acuteness of the situation seemed to vary directly in proportion to the distance of an institution from Calcutta. Thus, of the Government Colleges, Hooghly closed almost immediately, Krisnagar struggled on but eventually closed, Chittagong closed, though Chittagong Madrasah, mindful perhaps of its isolated endeavour three months previously, refused to strike in sympathy. At Rajshahi, the work was only temporarily suspended, while at Dacca, the students, though subjected to great pressure, resisted stoutly and the college was never completely closed. In Rangpur, however, the large private college closed completely, as also the Krishnath College, Berhampur, and the Wesleyan College, Bankura. A statement of the Vice-Chancellor, Calcutta University, made before the Senate on the 24th September 1921 will give some idea of the wastage caused largely, if not wholly, by non-co-operation. On the 15th September 1920, there were in colleges affiliated to the University 11,583 students in the first and third year arts and science classes, and 12,304 in the second and fourth year classes, a total of 23,887. On the 1st March 1921, a census was taken of the students in the first and third year classes actually present on that day. (It may be pointed out that the second and fourth year classes in colleges are dissolved in December or January.) It was found that of 11,583 on the rolls, only 6,684 attended, i.e., 42 per cent. had disappeared. Excluding the two Dacca colleges, the number of students on the rolls in the second and fourth year classes (i.e., the promoted first and third year classes on the 10th August 1921 was 7,585, while, still excluding Dacca, the number in the old first and third year classes attending on the 1st March 1921 was 6,121. It would appear, therefore, that the difference, 1,464 or nearly 14 per cent. represents the number of students who, after desertion, rejoined the colleges when they had had leisure to consider their position more calmly. The net loss of the colleges was thus more than 27 per cent. of the students who normally would have been promoted from the first and third to the second and fourth year classes, respectively. Much the same conclusion is arrived at by a comparison of the total number on the rolls in the four classes on the 15th September 1920, 23,887, and on the 10th August 1921, 17,579 or a drop of some 26·5 per cent. A curious feature of the figures is the fact that while admissions into the first year arts class for the session 1921-22 dropped from 4,981* to 3,497, the admissions to the first year science class rose from 2,197* to 2,966. The same phenomenon is observable in the figures for the Postgraduate Classes, for between the 30th September 1920 and the 30th September 1921, the numbers in Arts had fallen from 1,262 to 1,045, a drop of 17 per cent., while in science it had risen from 158 to 189, an increase of 19·6 per cent. The number of students in the Law Colleges also fell from 2,741 to 2,493. This seems to support the assertion frequently made that the desertion was due in part, not to aversion from the system as a Government or Government-aided system, but to a growing and frequently expressed idea that the purely literary side of education has been overdone and that, as many of the students stated the case, it is "Science or nothing." As the Vice-Chancellor, however, pointed out in his statement, the colleges are not prepared with the necessary laboratory equipment for this sudden change of allegiance, and, in consequence, many of those who, in 1923, pass the Intermediate Science Examination will find themselves frozen out from pursuing their course further.

359. Government colleges.—The Government Arts Colleges, as shown by the table below, suffered considerably less than did the private colleges, the decrease being very largely accounted for by the drop in numbers at the Sanskrit College from 194 to 79, a drop not entirely to be lamented, since the institution was in 1920 badly overcrowded :—

Name of College.	Total on Rolls on September 15th 1920.	Total on Rolls on August 10th 1921.	Increase.	Decrease.
Bethune	113	120	7	...
Chittagong	449	402	...	47
Dacca Intermediate	379	349†	...	30
Hooghly	264	247	...	17
Krishnagar	295	209	...	86
Presidency	684	770	86	...
Rajshahi	853	818	...	35
Sanskrit	194	79	...	115

The Principals of Government Colleges when circularised, attributed the loss not so much to non-co-operation as to other reasons; in Chittagong to increasing poverty, in Dacca to the decision taken to restrict the numbers in the first year class, at Hooghly and Rajshahi to the late publication of the B.A. and B.Sc. results and to the lack of accommodation in the science classes. These opinions are echoed with varying degrees of emphasis by the authorities of private colleges also.

360. Schools.—The main outlines of this story may be taken to apply also to the effect of non-co-operation on the schools of the province. It is to be observed, however, that the primary and middle schools were hardly affected, the high schools, as being the ones most intimately connected with the university system, being made the centres of agitation. The statement of the Vice-Chancellor, previously referred to, gives also the figures for those schools recognised by the University. Here the drop in the number of pupils is from 196,548 to 151,542 (excluding Assam and Cooch Behar), i.e., 45,006 or 22·9 per cent. He estimated that the number taking Matriculation in 1922 would be 3,588 less than in 1921. This fear has since proved to be groundless. Partly as a result of a special circular to the schools after the entries had been made intimating that further entries would be accepted of candidates who had since reached the age of sixteen, or who having been absent from, or failed at, the usual test examination had passed a second test, the schools appear to have revised their list of candidates rejected at the school test examinations, with the result that despite the non-co-operation movement and the reduction of numbers in schools, the candidates at the Matriculation Examination of 1922 were 19,131, *or 6 more than in 1921. Nor was there much difference in the examination results, 79 per cent. of these passing despite the unsettling excitement of the year against 81 per cent. of the preceding year. Figures are not available for unaided schools, primary and middle, but in Government and aided middle schools, there was a drop from 100,515 to 95,577 (i.e., 4,938 or 4·9 per cent.) between the 1st January and the 30th June 1921, while from the reports of inspectors it may be gathered that primary schools were hardly touched. The figures below for Government schools, high, middle and primary, show, as in the case of the colleges, that they suffered much less than did the private schools, aided or unaided :—

* Excluding the two Dacca colleges and the Indian Association for the Cultivation of Science.
† On 25th July, the Calcutta University census was not taken here.

	Number of pupils on 31st March 1920.	Number of pupils on 31st March 1921.	Decrease.
High	14,687	14,116	571
Middle	1,127	1,104	23
Primary	6,700	6,262	438

Thus it will be seen that Government high schools lost less than 4 per cent. of their numbers, as against some 20 per cent. in all schools, Government and private.

361. Results of the movement.—It may well be asked what has become of college students and school boys—some 55,000—who, as shown in the figures above, cut adrift from the present system. Many of them, probably in a rather chastened frame of mind, have returned to it, for the number of candidates at the Matriculation Examination in 1922, contrary to expectation, was much the same as in 1921, from which it would seem that the older school boy, on the threshold of a university career, rapidly came to the conclusion that the specious promises to provide him with a much superior article were worthless. Further, during the calendar year 1921, so far as it is possible to state with any accuracy, 170 National Schools were opened in the province, with 13,468 pupils. On the 31st March 1922, there were 190, with 14,819 pupils. These institutions are of various grades, from the equivalent of the lower primary school to that of the high English school, and in one or two cases, to that of a technical school. They have this in common, that a general education is supposed to be given in combination with a vocational, though " vocational " connotes, in nearly every case, merely hand-spinning and weaving. The " general " education ranges from the three R's or less, to the curriculum of the high school, though apparently, in the latter case, a vernacular is the medium of instruction, and English is a second language. These schools are ill-housed, badly equipped, and indifferently staffed: most of them lead the most precarious existence, and their financial statements, if they are ever made, would probably bear little inspection. Fees, not always paid, doles from Congress funds, occasional windfalls from non-co-operators, a varying amount realised from the sale of the rice brought by pupils as a sort of payment in kind—these are the main items of income. There seems to be no uniformity of studies. The pupils attend or not as they please. Signs are not wanting that now that the first flush of enthusiasm has passed, these institutions will die of inanition, though their establishment has probably done more than a good deal of counter-propaganda would have done to convince the people of Bengal of the weakness of the non-co-operation movement in education.

Thus it will be seen that at a rough estimate—exact figures are hard, if not impossible to come by—some 20,000 of the 55,000 deserters had either returned to their allegiance or been otherwise provided for, and of the remainder the opinion may be hazarded that a large proportion will ultimately return, having realised perhaps that while the present system may not give them all that they very vaguely desire, it at least gives them something which the promised " national " education has not given.

It has been already stated that the non-co-operation movement had little or no effect on the primary schools in the province except in isolated cases. On schools for girls, and on colleges for women, the movement, though actively directed against them, failed to make much impression. . Thus, the Principal of the Bethune College reports that " there was some slight reaction to the pressure of outside excitement during the non-co-operation disturbances in January 1921. Geographical considerations made it desirable to keep the college closed for one month from 27th January to 21st February, that is, while the men's colleges were closed. Immediately on the reopening of the college, attendance was normal, and work has since been carried on as usual. All Matriculation, I.A. and B.A. candidates have appeared for their examinations."

362. Considerations for the future.—It may be well to attempt some explanation of the apparently easy nature of the agitator's task in seducing the school boy and the college student from his allegiance. In the first place his attack upon the present system was speciously justified, for on the face of it, a University education and diploma, once an almost unfailing passport to respectable employment, has become less and less marketable asset. It seems to lead, according to his view, merely to the overstocked market of the briefless advocate and to the cut-throat competition for clerical employment. The prettily coloured picture of the national school and the national college was held out as the alternative which, while providing a training for the hands would at the same time give all that the mind really needed of Indian and Western culture and would be a return to a very hazily defined golden age unaffected by foreign and, therefore, evil contacts. The constant play made with the idea of hand-spinning as a panacea for all evils of body and soul linked on the educational to the political appeal, and the student saw, in his rejection of the (to him) wholly evil system of university and school education, and in his adoption of new guiding principles, not merely a change in the methods of his education, but an act of sacrifice, and of reconsecration to a greater and all-embracing ideal of patriotic service. It has been seen how soon, and how rudely, he has been disabused.

Unfortunately, the agitator, in the material upon which he worked, had a task made easier by the conditions surrounding the material. The drabness and joylessness of student life in Bengal has been a matter for frequent comment. The Calcutta University Commission Report has perhaps said the last word in describing the conditions of this life. Poverty, the cram-drudgery of his studies, the dreary surroundings in which a student too often finds himself housed, make him " moody, depressed and absorbed in himself and his prospects. He needs, therefore, more than other students of the same age, recreation and diversion. . . . It is not surprising, therefore, if in moments of despondency, he falls a victim to uncontrollable excitement, sometimes of the most serious and violent nature" (Calcutta University Commission Report, Vol. II, p. 354). Thus the appeal of the agitators, ostensibly to the noblest instincts of the student, his love of country and eagerness for sacrifice, couched in terms that suggested glowing ideas of " national " service, found its response in that natural craving for excitement in the adolescent, which in other countries would have found vent in college " rags," in sport, in a hundred and one ways made impossible to the student in Bengal by his circumstances In the schools also his task was made easier by much the same considerations. The Inspector of Schools, Rajshahi, commenting on the situation in the High Schools of his division, states that " they are weak, numerically and financially, and poor in respect of house and equipment. They are the resort of the discontented graduates and undergraduates (as teachers) who have no other avenues of employment open to them. Discipline sits lightly on them. It is small wonder, therefore, that they have fallen a prey to outside influences."

It may be said that this, the first attack in force against existing educational conditions, was to a great extent unsuccessful. And that lack of success was largely due to the fact that the non-co-operation movement had no equivalent to offer, except the few hastily-founded, ill-planned, ill-considered "national" schools which arose in 1921 This aspect strengthens the obvious conclusion, that the effort was not sincerely directed towards educational reform, but was almost entirely political and obstructive in its nature.

It is possible that the period of quiet during the latter half of the year 1921 was in the nature of reculer pour mieux sauter, for the winter of 1921-22 saw a renewed effort directed in rather different channels, and making a much more barefaced and cynical attempt to use the student an dthe schoolboy as political tools The period from the 17th November to the middle of January 1922 was a period of stress, for the activities of the non-co-operationists were directed towards a complete " hold-up " of normal city life on certain days Their methods were the employment of so-called "volunteers" for the picketing of cloth and liquor shops and for the holding up of traffic, and the organisation of illegal processions for the purpose of courting arrest Among these bands of volunteers, which included mill-hands, coolies and professional bad characters, were numbered also many college students and school boys upon whom the impulses of vaguely defined " national " service and of desire for excitement had worked together. As evidence that the movement, so far as it concerned students, was entirely divorced from educational considerations, may be adduced the fact that in the cases of strikes in Calcutta colleges, there was no accompanying demand for "nationalisation "; the reason given was generally that the strike was a protest against the action of Government, or against the arrest of some particular leader At Presidency College indeed, the sole reason brought forward for an unsuccessful attempt by a hot-headed minority to empty the college was their resentment against one particular word in a notice issued by the Principal In this case a more exact knowledge of English etymology on the students' part would have prevented the partial strike which actually occurred, and which was broken by a tactful and documented little lesson in the meaning and derivation of words, from the Principal. A further illustration, if illustration were necessary, of the pyschological state of the striker is furnished by the action of the students of the Law College and of the Postgraduate Classes. The Christmas holidays of these students were lengthened by a week; on the re-opening day, there was little or no response to the roll calls. The issue of a notice, reminding students that absence from classes without cause was a breach of discipline and would be treated as such, soon refilled the class-rooms Well within the period given by this notice for final decision on the part of the abstainers, the classes had resumed their normal appearance.

It is difficult, so soon after the event, to put into perspective the possible results of non-co-operation propaganda and non-co-operation influence on education, especially as the process of alienation from the present system is probably still going on, though subterraneously. The ill-success of the first great mass attack in 1920-21 has possibly disillusioned many of the clearer thinkers among students and school boys, and thus far there may have been a soul of good in things evil It may also have given rise to a more constructively critical attitude towards the present system on the part of sane and well-affected citizens, and thus again may work for good On the other hand, of positive evil, there must be obviously a good deal The unsettlement of studies in adolescence, the absence of that calm atmosphere essential for intellectual growth has inevitably interrupted the development of many promising students. The evil disciplinary effects of the movement in school and college are patent, although, as the Inspector of Schools, Burdwan, remarks, " political agitation seems to have tailed off into teaching bad manners to school boys." Again, the large number of schools that have disappeared is an unfortunate result; bad as many of them undoubtedly were, in equipment and management, they still provided a basis for improvement. Some schools also have managed to struggle through this time of stress by means of doles from Government given ad hoc, but they must struggle under an increasing financial burden. To sum up, it may be said that a highly specialised organism has received a shock from which it has recovered, not without weakening, but which, if rightly considered, will be an incentive to setting its house in order.

School and college hygiene.

363. Physical training.—Up to March 1919, the department had the advantage of the part-time services of Dr. Segard, Physical Director of the Young Men's Christian Association, Calcutta, in return for the Government grant to that body. In January 1920, sanction was accorded by the Secretary of State to the creation of the post of a Physical Advisor in the Indian Educational Service, but it has not yet been found possible to recruit a suitable officer. A temporary post in the Bengal Educational Service has been created for two years to superintend physical education. Hygiene has been made an optional subject for the Matriculation Examination but little advantage has been taken of the innovation. Lectures on hygiene illustrated by slides are from time to time given in High and Training Schools.

364. Games and play-grounds.—Foot-ball, cricket, hockey, badminton and lawn tennis are usually played by boys in towns, while country games are played in rural areas. The cost of games is met from fees realised from the students. Few of the schools and colleges in Calcutta have adequate playgrounds. Drill is taught in all recognised schools. The Boy Scout Movement is popular, but its introduction into Indian schools has been hampered by dearth of qualified Scout Masters.

365. Medical inspection and hygiene.—During the year 1921-22, the Students' Welfare Committee organised by the University conducted an elaborate enquiry into the health of students. Their reports show that a somewhat high proportion of students suffer from minor defects. The question has been receiving much attention, since the latter part of the period under review, from the Department of Public Health, and the appointment of an Assistant Director of Public Health, and a Medical Inspectress of Schools who have tested students' general health and eye-sight in a good many cases, augurs well for the future.

366. Moral training.—As previously, there is no regular system for imparting direct teaching in morality except through the medium of lessons. Much depends, in this respect, on the character of the teacher, whose example is a potent factor in shaping the conduct of the boys. Religious intsruction is imparted in madrasahs, maktabs and in institutions under mission and Brahmo management. It is believed in some quarters that the spirit of defiance for constituted authority, which the non-co-operation movement has engendered, is to be traced largely to the purely secular education imparted in our schools and colleges.

CHAPTER XIV.

Text Book Committees.

367. Calcutta.—In 1920-21 the Committee was reconstituted as sanctioned in the Director of Public Instruction's letter No. 4375-G., dated 4th August 1920. During the quinquennium under review altogether six meetings of the General Committee were held, there being two meetings in the year 1919-20.

The following table will show the number of books received and the manner in which they were disposed of:—

Year.	1917-18.	1918-19.	1919-20.	1920-21.	1921-22.
Number of books received ...	481	591	424	686	486
Number of books approved as text, prize and library books and supplementary readers.	267	177	162	232	107
Number of books rejected ...	160	198	205	213	120
Number of books submitted to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, for consideration.	...	15	3	7	7
Number of books left to be considered next year.	54	201	54	234	252

N.B.—The number of books shown as received every year include the number shown as "left to be considered" in the preceding year.

368. Dacca.—The Committee was reconstituted in the year 1921-22. The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, was the President and the Inspector of Schools, Dacca Division, the Secretary, both ex-officio. The total number of members of the reconstituted committee was 17, of whom 9, including the President, the Secretary and the Assistant Inspector of Schools for Muhammadan Education, Dacca Division, were official members. Two meetings, one half-yearly and the other annual, were held on the 18th April 1921 and 5th December 1921, respectively. Out of 443 books received during the year, 151 were approved as text, library, prize or both library and prize books.

The Committee met seven times during the quinquennium. Out of 3,339 books received in all during the period, 1,596 were recommended for approval. The number of letters received and despatched was 6,703 and 14,758, respectively. The function of examining newly-submitted books at the preliminary stage, which had rested with the Director of Public Instruction, was delegated to the Secretary to the Text Book Committee, and the charge was taken over towards the end of April 1917. A provisional list of Sub-Committees to examine books on different subjects was drawn up. This list was subsequently revised and accepted in a meeting held in May 1922.

CHAPTER XV.

Education in the Legislative Council.

369. Before Reforms.—Education has received much attention from the Council during the quinquennium. The former Council, with its rare meetings, gave little scope for full discussion, but the annual Budget debate was an opportunity of discussing policy, while from time to time resolutions were debated indicating a growing interest in primary education and an increasing belief in the need for industrial or vocational education. One resolution, moved by Mr. P. C. Mitter, led to the deputation of Mr. West to survey the possibilities of advance in primary education, the report of which survey stimulated further attention and interest. Another moved by Mr. Fazl-ul Haq, was followed by an examination of the possibility of increasing facilities for education in engineering at the Ahsanullah School of Engineering at Dacca. Further, two pieces of private legislation call for record. Mr. S. N. Roy's Bengal Primary Education Act (1919) gave municipalities (and by notification from time to time union committees) power to introduce compulsory primary education for boys between the ages of 6 and 10, and to impose for primary education a cess whether compulsory or voluntary; also giving Government the power to direct municipalities to make provision for primary education on a voluntary basis for children between 6 and 11. Dr. A. Suhrawardy's Bengal Juvenile Smoking Act (1919) provided measures against the use of tobacco by young children.

Though these Acts had little effect, they are of interest as signs of a growing feeling that all children should be given some education, and that this should include some regulation of conduct.

370. The New Council.—The larger Council of 1921 gave ampler scope, and was animated by a keener critical spirit, and by an enthusiastic desire to assist the new Minister in curing some of the more obvious defects in educational practice and provision. The Budget debates of 1921 and 1922 have offered convenient opportunities of reviewing the whole field of education, and eliciting public opinion with certainty. Motions for reduction of grant have led to vigorous attacks upon and defences of both the universities of the province, and have offered the opportunity of assertion that the newer university is being financially favoured at the expense of the older. Resolutions to reduce the grants to the Dacca University were debated in both years, and a resolution to reduce the grants to the University of Calcutta was debated in 1922, but all were withdrawn. The Budget debates also elicited the view that the cost of inspection in the department is excessive, to which the consideration of Government was promised. Of resolutions not directly connected with the Budget the most important were—

(1) moved by Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur in February 1921 and accepted by Government that a scheme should be prepared and introduced for the furtherance of vocational education;

(2) moved by Babu Jatindra Nath Bose in July 1921 and carried in the form that at least 80 per cent. of the Fellows of the University of Calcutta should be elected and that all who have taken the degree of Doctor or Master, or any lower degree not less than seven years before the date of election, should be entitled to elect 80 per cent. of the Fellows, and that no fee be charged to any graduate entitled to take part in such election;

(3) moved by Rai Jogendra Chunder Ghose Bahadur in July 1921 and carried in the form that the formation of a Board of Education for the superintendence of secondary schools, general and vocational, should be carried out without delay, by legislation, if necessary, and that the Board should be so constituted as to be representative of the various interests and communities concerned, with a non-official majority;

(4) moved by Babu Rishindra Nath Sarkar in August 1921 and carried by 55 to 41 that to determine what financial assistance, if any, should be given to the University of Calcutta, a committee of two financial experts, two members of the Senate to be nominated by Government, and three non-official members of the Legislative Council not holding any office in the University to be elected by the Council, be appointed to enquire into the general working of the University, in particular its financial administration, and recommend such urgent measures of reforms as might be necessary. This was carried against the opposition of Government;

(5) moved by Rai Jogendra Chunder Ghose Bahadur in August 1921 and carried that a technological and agricultural college granting degrees and closely related to the University of Calcutta should be established at Calcutta;

(6) moved by Shah Syed Emdadul Haq in March 1922 and accepted by Government in the form that schools of any class wishing and able to introduce into their curriculum satisfactory courses in charka and hand-spinning shall be permitted to do so;

(7) moved by Dr. J. N. Maitra in March 1922 that all age restriction for the Matriculation Examination of the University of Calcutta be removed; withdrawn when it was pointed out that the University had already addressed Government on the matter and that a decision would probably be arrived at when the details of legislation for the Board of Secondary Education were settled.

371. European Education.—European education received comparatively little attention, and no resolutions were debated other than Budget resolutions. While many members of the Council do not approve of what appears to be a comparatively generous provision for European schools, criticism was usually temperate, explanation was generously received, a resolution for reduction was seldom pressed to a division, and no provision was refused. This, in brief, is the story of the Council's attitude towards all education: it criticised freely, asked abundantly for information, and granted all provision that was asked for.

372. Legislation.—The only legislation relating to education that has yet been passed by the new Council is the Bengal Children Act passed in January 1922. The Act will be carried out by the Judicial Department, with assistance from the Education Department, in those clauses that relate to schools. The Act follows the English Act, is applicable to boys and girls, and provides that youthful offenders may be sent to a Reformatory or Industrial School and that neglected and destitute children may be sent to Industrial Schools.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORTS OF THE BENGAL VETERINARY COLLEGE AND OF THE CIVIL VETERINARY DEPARTMENT, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1922-23.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRIES.

Veterinary.

CALCUTTA, THE 15TH NOVEMBER 1923.

RESOLUTION—No. 4662.

Minister in charge : The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri, Khan Bahadur, C.I.E.

READ—

The Annual Reports of the Bengal Veterinary College and of the Civil Veterinary Department, Bengal, for the year 1922-23.

Mr. A. D. MacGregor was Superintendent of the Civil Veterinary Department, Bengal, up to the 18th April 1922, and Mr. P. J. Kerr held charge of the Department throughout the rest of the year. Colonel Smith, the permanent Principal of the Bengal Veterinary College went on leave combined with the vacation of the college from 1st April 1922. He has subsequently extended his leave up to the date of his retirement in December next. Mr. P. J. Kerr, the Second Imperial Officer of the College and Mr. A. D. MacGregor performed the duties of the Principal in connection with the Glanders and Farcy Act and the College Hospital for the periods from the 1st to the 18th April and from the 19th April to the 30th June, respectively. The latter was appointed to act as Principal, with effect from the 1st July and continued as such for the remaining period of the year. The post of Second Imperial Officer of the College was filled by Mr. Kerr for the first eighteen days of the year and by Mr. MacGregor up to 30th June, Mr. R. T. Davis acting in the post for the rest of the year.

Mr. Kerr was the Veterinary Adviser to Government throughout the year under review.

2. The number of students at the Bengal Veterinary College at the end of the session was 139, which was slightly lower than the average of the preceding three years. Of this number more than 50 per cent. belonged to Bengal, the remainder coming from various other provinces and Native States in India.

During the year under review the question of contribution to be levied from other participating provinces for the upkeep of the college was taken up for consideration, and it was decided that in addition to Bihar and Orissa and Assam, which had hitherto paid lump contributions towards the cost of maintenance of the college, other provinces, which regularly send students to Bengal, should be called upon to pay a contribution, and that the contribution should in all cases be levied on the basis of the number of students sent each year.

3. The report of the Civil Veterinary Department shows a marked increase in the mortality of animals from contagious diseases during the year, the total number of deaths reported being 24,021 as against 16,142 in the previous year. The increase is almost wholly accounted for by the severe outbreaks of rinderpest in the districts of Nadia, Birbhum, Bankura Rajshahi, Rangpur and Jalpaiguri claiming as victims 20,431 cattle compared with 13,304 in the previous year. During the year the veterinary assistants attended 914 outbreaks of rinderpest, hæmorrhagic septicæmia and anthrax in which preventive inoculation was undertaken, and the total number of cattle inoculated was 141,102 as against 458 outbreaks and 76,340 cattle inoculated during the previous year This marked increase was mainly due to the prompt reporting of outbreaks. The number of deaths among inoculated cattle was 1,017 or 0·7 per cent. of the total.

It is gratifying to note that the departmental propaganda work consisting of lectures delivered by the staff and the distribution of leaflets was supplemented by the activities of local bodies. The thanks of Government are particularly due to the District Board of Nadia for the assistance rendered to the department by publishing and distributing at the cost of the Board three thousand pamphlets on common cattle diseases and their remedy, and it is hoped that other local bodies will follow this example.

Government also note with satisfaction that in some districts of East Bengal the local bodies allowed their veterinary assistants to visit the primary schools and address the boys on animal husbandry, etc. It is expected that the efforts of the department to extend this system will meet with success.

The services rendered by the Bengal Social Service League by organizing magic lantern lectures in the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions are also to be gratefully acknowledged.

4. The veterinary assistants visited 14,438 villages and treated 81,986 patients during the year under report, the corresponding figures for the two previous years being 12,084 villages and 67,511 animals and 12.831 villages and 58,761 animals, respectively.

5. Regular inspection of all the stables and cattle sheds in Calcutta was carried on by the Glanders staff. The disease was detected in 19 stables against 23 in the previous year. In the mufassal the deaths from this disease was 6 against 22 in the previous year.

6. In spite of the observations made in the Government resolution on the preceding year's report the progress made in the establishment of new dispensaries shows little sign of improvement, and the number now stands at 41 only, an increase of only 2. But it is satisfactory to note that there has been a marked increase in the number of animals treated, indicating the increasing popularity of these institutions.

7. The total number of stud-bulls maintained in this province rose from 156 to 159 during the year. The thanks of Government are due to the District Boards of Bakarganj and Midnapore for the interest taken by them in this respect. But it is disappointing to note that more local bodies do not realize to an equal extent the importance of providing good bulls If the union boards had been able to make provision for the improvement of cattle in their respective jurisdictions as suggested by the Joint Conference of the Agriculture and Industries and Co-operative Departments held in July 1922, more satisfactory progress would doubtless have been possible. This aspect of the question will be further considered by Government in the departments concerned.

8. The Hon'ble Minister in charge, while expressing his gratitude generally to the local bodies in this Presidency for fulfilling their duties in regard to veterinary matters, is pained to notice that some of them have not been as sympathetic with the cause as might be expected. Bengal is pre-eminently an agricultural country and its agriculture depends mainly on cattle. The welfare of the live-stock is, therefore, a matter which vitally concerns this province as a whole, and it is also a matter in which Government naturally count a great deal on the assistance of local bodies. But it is disappointing to note that the programme of having two veterinary assistants in each subdivision framed by the Government of Bengal more than twelve years ago is yet far from being fully carried out. The problem has become all the more urgent in view of the fact that, as a measure of retrenchment, 3 out of 4 staff veterinary assistants, who had in emergent cases hitherto supplemented the veterinary staff entertained by local bodies, have been abolished. Government expect that the several local bodies in this Presidency will readily realise the gravity of the situation and make an earnest endeavour to augment their veterinary establishment as quickly as possible till the prescribed number is reached.

9. His Excellency the Governor, acting with the Minister in charge, would take this opportunity of acknowledging the valuable services of Mr. P. J. Kerr as Superintendent, Civil Veterinary Department and Veterinary Adviser to the Government, and of recording his appreciation of the good work done by Messrs. A. D. MacGregor and R. T. Davis in connection with the Bengal Veterinary College. The names of other officers commended by the Superintendent and the Principal are also noted with satisfaction.

By order of the Government of Bengal
(Ministry of Agriculture and Public Works),

J. T. DONOVAN,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 21st November 1923.

Summary.—Rainfall was general in the districts of the Chittagong Division and also in Bakarganj, Khulna, Midnapore, Howrah and the 24-Parganas. Elsewhere there was practically no rain. More rain is wanted in Pabna, Bogra, Birbhum and Mymensingh. Reaping of winter paddy and sowing of spring crops are proceeding briskly. Sugarcane crop is thriving well. The prospects of standing crops are satisfactory on the whole. The average price of common rice for the province has fallen about 0·65 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

J. C. ROY, for Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DACCA, the 24th November 1923.

of Public Instruction and Assistant Director of Public Instruction for Muhammadan Education, Bengal. After examining the conditions of 2,380 appointments it recommended the introduction of a time-scale pay in place of the graded system and for this purpose grouped the officers concerned into four main categories according to the nature of their work—teaching, inspecting, ministerial. miscellaneous. In their resolution No. 464-Edn., dated 3rd March 1922, Government sanctioned the reorganisation of the teaching and inspecting branches of the Subordinate Educational Services containing 2,036 appointments on a time-scale basis. As a result of the reorganisation which took effect from 1st September 1921, 14 posts of district inspectors and 21 posts of lecturers and demonstrators were raised to the Bengal Educational Service, 79 lecturers and demonstrators were placed on Rs. 150—10—300 (efficiency bar)—10—400 with a selection grade of 3 appointments on Rs. 450; 61 subdivisional inspectors and 54 assistant head masters and assistant head mistresses of high and normal schools and senior grade laboratory assistants in colleges were placed on Rs. 150—10—250; 773 English teachers of high schools, sub-inspectors of schools and other officers of similar status on Rs. 75—5—150 (efficiency bar)—5—200; 123 senior classical teachers of high schools and some other officers of equivalent position on Rs. 60—4—120 (efficiency bar)—4—160; 300 junior classical teachers and vernacular teachers of high schools and other officers of similar standing on Rs. 50—2—80 (efficiency bar)—3—110; 601 officers including vernacular teachers in schools (other than high schools), assistant sub-inspectors of schools and inspecting maulvis and other officers of equivalent status on a scale of Rs. 35—2—75 (efficiency bar)—3—90, 6 senior maulvis of the senior section of the Calcutta Madrasah on Rs. 100—10—200 (efficiency bar) —10—250 and 4 mistresses in training institutions for Indian girls on Rs. 100—10—150. The ministerial and miscellaneous branches of the Subordinate Educational Service comprising 344 posts are still under the consideration of Government, but it has been decided to introduce a time-scale pay for them also. There were 2,396 appointments in the Subordinate Educational Services on 31st March 1917. The establishments of the two European schools at Kurseong were reorganised with effect from 1st September 1921, separate cadres being formed for each institution, the posts which were formerly included in the Subordinate Educational Services being abolished. Further, with the transfer of control of technical and industrial institutions to the Industries Department, the posts attached to them were also transferred. The number of appointments in the Subordinate Educational Services was thus reduced to 2,345 by 31st March 1922, of which 2,001 have been put on time-scale with effect from 1st September 1921, and the case of the remaining 344 posts (ministerial and miscellaneous) is being considered by Government.

21. Discontinuance of local allowances.—The local allowances which in the previous quinquennium were temporarily sanctioned for head masters and head mistresses (in the Subordinate Educational Service) of high and middle schools and assistant head masters and assistant head mistresses of high and normal schools, were discontinued with effect from the date on which the new organisation was introduced.

22. Office establishments of the Director of Public Instruction and Assistant Director of Public Instruction for Muhammadan Education, Bengal.—During the quinquennium the work of the offices of the Director of Public Instruction and the Assistant Director of Public Instruction for Muhammadan Education was amalgamated, but the two establishments retain separate cadres. Proposals for reorganisation on a time-scale have been included in the recommendations of the McAlpin Committee.

23. Direction.—The work was, as formerly, carried on by the Director, and the Assistant Director, while the Assistant Director for Muhammadan Education also worked at Writers' Buildings.

24. Inspecting agency.—This shows the strength of the Inspecting staff at the end of the quinquennium.—

26. Changes in inspecting agency.—The most important changes in the organisation of inspecting arrangements were that the posts of assistant inspectors of schools (other than assistant inspectors for Muhammadan education) were abolished, the charge of districts being given to district inspectors in the Bengal Educational Service, and of subdivisions to subdivisional inspectors. It is intended that the district inspector shall be the chief educational officer in his district, the chief adviser of the district board, the administrator of the primary and middle education of the district under the general supervision of the divisional inspectors, but the complete delegation of functions to him has not yet been worked out.

CALCUTTA, the 26th November 1923.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for October 1923.

I. Character of the season.—During the first half of the month light showers were general but rain practically ceased later. With the exception of Chittagong and Tripura State rainfall was markedly in defect of the normal. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Preparatory tillage for spring crops and their sowings, especially of early varieties, were proceeding under indifferent circumstances. Harvesting of autumn paddy in West Bengal and cutting, steeping and washing of jute both in West and North Bengal continued till late in the month.

III. State of standing crops.—The growth of winter paddy at the time of its maturity was adversely affected, especially in parts of West and North Bengal, due to absence of rain during the latter part of the month. Sugarcane and other standing crops fared well.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects of deep-water winter paddy were generally reported to be fairly favourable and those of transplanted variety were fair.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Damage by insect-pests to winter paddy and spring crops was reported from parts of Burdwan and Nadia, respectively.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—There was serious outbreaks of cattle-disease in Rangpur and sporadic cases also occurred in the districts of Nadia, Dinajpur, Darjeeling, Bogra, Malda, Dacca, Chittagong, Noakhali and Cooch Behar State.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—Excepting the districts of Birbhum and Noakhali no scarcity of fodder was reported.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review the prices of common rice of the cheapest quality rose in four districts, fell in eight and remained stationary in the rest of the province. It ranged from 6 seers 12 chitaks in Bogra to 10 seers in Jessore.

"Kazi Abdul Janis" and further put his correct name "Kazi Abdul Jalil" in brackets and duly signed and subscribed the same as required by the rules.

8. That Mr. R. F. Lodge, I.C.S., the Returning Officer, in his certificate of scrutiny dated the 11th of October 1923, stated "that the proposer's name was Kazi Abdul Jalil, whereas the name in the voters' list was Abdul Janis" and there was nothing before him to shew that Abdul Jalil and Abdul Janis were the same person, and rejected the nomination paper.

9. That there was nothing in the entries on the nomination paper to show that the proposer was not identical with the person whose electoral number was given in the nomination paper as the number of such proposer.

10. That there is no person of the name of Kazi Abdul Janis, son of the late Kazi Muhammad Hatem, in union No. 9, thana Baduria, Shaistanagar.

11. That the said Returning Officer failed to appreciate the facts and he should have found that the proposer had put the name in exactly the same manner in which it had been noted in the electoral roll printed in Bengali, only within brackets was written "Abdul Jalil" rectifying the misprint or misspelling in the said roll and showing that he was the identical person whose electoral number was given in the nomination paper.

12. That your petitioner ventures to submit that the Returning Officer misunderstood and misinterpreted Regulation XXI (I) (IV) of the Bengal Electoral Rules and Regulations, 1923, and that he has improperly rejected the nomination paper.

13. That the said Returning Officer should have found from the description in the nomination paper that the signatory to it was the self same man as that in the electoral roll whose name was wrongly recorded.

In the facts and circumstances stated above your petitioner prays :—

(i) for a declaration that the nomination paper was a valid one, and

(ii) for declaring that the election had been void and setting aside the same and for a declaration that a fresh election should be held.

(Verification.)

The statements contained in paragraphs 1, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8 are true to my knowledge and those contained in paragraphs 2, 5, 9, 10, 11 and 12 are true to my belief.

I sign this verification this day, the 10th November 1923, at 10 A.M., at Ishanmanzil, Dacca.

RESOLUTION.

Delhi, the 10th November 1923.

No. 1376.—In 1921 the Government of India invited the views of the maritime local Governments as to the advisability of centralizing the administration of Customs in India, and suggested the appointment of a Controller General for the supervision of Customs administration under the direct control of the Central Government. The consensus of opinion was in favour of the proposal, which was however subsequently held in abeyance pending the recommendations of the Indian Retrenchment Committee. In their report that Committee recommended that the scope of the present Board of Inland Revenue should be enlarged so as to include Customs, Salt and Opium, and also Excise and Stamps so far as the Central Government is concerned with these subjects. This recommendation has been accepted by the Government of India, and they have decided, with the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to place the administration of these subjects under the control of a Board, which will for the present consist of two members and will absorb the existing Board of Inland Revenue. Mr. A. R. Loftus Tottenham, I.C.S., and Mr. A. H. Lloyd, I.C.S., have been appointed first Members of the new Board, which will be known as the "Central Board of Revenue."

2. Legislation will be necessary before the new Board can receive full authority to perform the functions which it is intended to discharge, and pending the introduction of such legislation the local authorities will continue to exercise the powers vested in them by existing laws and regulations. Notifications, etc., under the Income-tax Act will continue to be issued by the Board of Inland Revenue as such, pending the necessary amendment of that Act. The new Board will proceed immediately with the examination of the amendments required in the existing enactments to place its powers on a statutory basis, and will consider the question of bringing the administration of these subjects under the direct control of the Central Government with the least possible delay.

ORDERED that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India, for general information.

A. C. MCWATTERS,
Secretary to the Government of India.

The following notification, issued by the Government of India in the Department of Commerce, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 10th November 1923, is republished for general information.

Rule 55.—With effect from the first day of July 1925, no person shall, save as hereinafter provided, be appointed to make the inspection required by sub-rule (a) of the rule 4 unless he—

(i) has within the preceding five years obtained a certificate from an authority and in a form to be prescribed by the Board of Examiners constituted under rule 28 to the effect that his powers of eye-sight and hearing are such as to enable him to make the inspection efficiently, and

Rule 56.—Where an emergency exists, the owner, agent or manager of a mine may appoint any person to make the inspection required by sub-rule (a) of rule 4 who, in his opinion, is competent to make such inspection, notwithstanding the fact that such person does not possess the qualifications prescribed in rule 55 :

Such local examiners shall be subject to the orders of the Board in respect of all matters relating to the conduct of the examination and shall receive such remuneration as the Board may, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, determine.

Rule 59.—(1) Examinations for underground sirdars' certificate shall be conducted orally in English or in the vernacular language of the district in which the examination is held and shall be designed to test the candidate's knowledge of the following subjects, namely :—

(2) The Board of Examiners may from time to time make regulations consistent with this rule in regard to the conduct of such examinations and every regulation so made shall be published in the local official Gazette.

Rule 60.—No person shall be permitted to appear as a candidate at an examination for an underground sirdar's certificate unless he has attained the age of 21 years and has satisfied the Board of Examiners that he has had not less than three years' practical experience in a coal-mine.

Rule 61.—(1) A fee of Rs. 5 shall be levied from every applicant for permission to appear as a candidate at an examination for an underground sirdar's certificate and the amount of such fee shall in no case be refunded.

(2) A fee of Re. 1 shall be levied from every person, not being a candidate for an underground sirdar's certificate, whose eye sight and hearing are examined by the authority referred to in clause (i) of rule 55.

The Board shall, at its discretion, either remove the suspension or cancel the certificate, and the decision of the Board shall be final.

Rule 63.—(1) The Chief Inspector of Mines shall issue to every person to whom the Board of Examiners grants an underground sirdar's certificate, a metal check marked with the registered number of his certificate.

(2) The person to whom such metal check is issued shall, so long as the corresponding certificate remains in force, retain such check in his immediate possession, and shall not transfer it or dispose of it in any way. In the event of the corresponding certificate being cancelled, the check shall be returned to Chief Inspector of Mines.

(3) No person other than the holder of the corresponding certificate for the time being in force, shall be in possession of a metal check issued under this rule.

Rule 64 (1).—The holder of an underground sirdar's certificate, granted under these rules, shall deliver such certificate to the owner, agent, or manager of any mine in which he is for the time being employed; and such owner, agent, or manager shall retain the certificate so long as the holder thereof is employed in such mine, and shall return it to the holder on his ceasing to be so employed.

(2) The owner, agent, or manager of any mine shall, on the demand of an Inspector of Mines, produce any underground sirdar's certificate held by a person employed in the mine.

Rule 65.—A register showing the names and addresses of all holders of underground sirdars' certificates shall be maintained in the Office of the Chief Inspector of Mines, and a note of the cancellation of any such certificate shall be entered in such register.

Rule 66.—If any person proves to the satisfaction of the Board of Examiners that he has without any fault on his part lost or been deprived of a certificate granted to him under rule 57 otherwise than by the Board of Examiners under rule 62, the Board of Examiners may, upon such terms and conditions as they may determine, cause a copy of the certificate to which the applicant appears by the register to be entitled, to be delivered to him. The word "Duplicate" shall be stamped across every such copy, and a fee of Re. 1 which shall be payable in advance to the Chief Inspector of Mines at his office shall be charged for it.

Rule 67.—If any person proves to the satisfaction of the Chief Inspector of Mines that he has without any fault on his part lost or been deprived of the metal check issued to him under sub-rule (1) of rule 63 otherwise than under the provisions of sub-rule (2) of rule 63 the Chief Inspector of Mines may, upon such terms and conditions as he may determine, cause a second metal check bearing the registered number of his certificate to be delivered to him. (b) An ordinary inspection may be made by an Inspector at any time for the purpose of ascertaining whether a certificate should be revoked or suspended under section 11.

Search for unregistered boilers.

23. In addition to the inspection and examination of boilers, it shall be the duty of Inspectors to search for unregistered or uncertificated boilers within their areas, and to see that certificated boilers are worked in accordance with the terms of their certificates.

Advice to be given to owners.

24. At the time of inspection, Inspectors shall advise the owner and the person in charge of the boiler on the management and upkeep of the boiler with special reference to the amount of cleaning required in view of the quality of water used.

Specific duties.

25. Inspectors shall—

(a) prepare a programme of inspections with regard to the convenience of owners generally and submit it to the Chief Inspector for approval at such periods as he may fix, at least 14 days before the first date stated in the programme;

(b) maintain a memorandum of inspection book for each boiler under their charge and submit it to the Chief Inspector for examination and countersignature after each inspection;

(c) keep a diary for monthly submission to the Chief Inspector, showing places visited, boilers registered or inspected, variations from the programme, and any other important particulars;

(d) receive applications for registration or inspection under section 7 or 8, proposals for repairs, alterations or renewals under section 12 and 13, reports of accidents under section 18;

(e) enquire into accidents to boilers or steampipes and report to the Chief Inspector;

(f) report to the Chief Inspector cases of unreported accidents discovered at the time of inspection;

(g) submit for the orders of the Chief Inspector—

(i) the memorandum of inspection books of all boilers proposed for registration under section 7;

(ii) proposals for increasing or decreasing the pressure of a boiler after inspection under proviso (a) (ii) to section 8 (5);

(iii) proposals for necessary repairs, structural alterations or renewals to a boiler after inspection under section 8 or 12;

(iv) proposals for revoking, cancelling or refusing to renew a certificate under section 8 or 11;

(v) report when boilers have not been properly prepared for inspection under section 14;

(vi) proposals for prosecutions under the Act.

26. When an inspection under the Act is completed, the Inspector making it shall prepare a declaration in Form No. B 2 appended to these rules in column 8 of which the limit of the working pressure, in pounds per square inch, shall be clearly noted.

General.

27. Upon receipt of the declaration in the office, a certificate shall be prepared in the Form VI prescribed by regulations. Such certificate shall be signed by the Inspector and the Chief Inspector and shall be delivered to the owner, manager or agent of the steam boiler inspected.

The time for inspection of boiler shall be between sunrise and sunset.

Accidents.

Investigation of accidents.

28. On receipt of a report of an accident to a boiler or steampipe under section 18, the Inspector shall, with the least possible delay, proceed to the place to investigate the accident. If the report is received by the Chief Inspector, he shall forward it at once to the Inspector, within whose jurisdiction the accident has occurred, for necessary action.

Procedure during enquiry.

29. The Inspector at his enquiry shall make a careful examination of the damaged parts, and shall take such measurements and make such sketches for the purpose of his report, as he may deem necessary. He shall enquire into the circumstances attending the accident and note the time of its occurrence, its nature and extent, the injury caused to persons and the damage done to property. The report should be in the style of the Reports of Preliminary Enquiries under the British Boiler Explosion Acts, 1882 and 1890.

Power to hold enquiry in writing.

30. Inspectors are authorized to take the written statements of witnesses and all persons immediately concerned with the accident. In order to comply with the provisions of section 18 (2) the Inspector shall present to the owner or person in charge of the boiler a series of written questions on all points that are material to the enquiry.

Use of boiler after accident.

31. The Inspector shall decide whether the use of the boiler can be permitted at the same or at a lower pressure without repairs or pending the completion of any repairs or alterations that he may order. In no case should he issue a provisional order or renewal certificate, until his orders have been carried out.

Procedure in case of serious accidents.

32. The report shall be sent without delay to the Chief Inspector; if he considers that the investigation has been sufficient, he will record the facts in his register of accidents, and enter a brief account of the accident in the registration book, a copy shall be made in the memorandum of inspection book. If, however, the accident is of a serious nature and in all cases in which an explosion has occurred, the Chief Inspector shall, after receipt of the Inspector's report, proceed to investigate the accident personally or report to the Boiler Commission to enquire into the accident. Reports of such enquiries shall be recorded as indicated above.

33. A brief account of all accidents and their causes shall be included in the annual report.

Reference in annual report.

34. If in the course of an inspection or at any other time, the Inspector discovers damage which comes within the definition of an accident, but which has not been reported, he shall report the facts at once to the Chief Inspector for action under section 24 (d).

Appeals.

35. Every petition of appeal shall be made in writing either in English or in the vernacular.

Filing of appeal.

36. An appeal may be presented either personally or by registered post to the Chief Inspector.

Presentation of appeal.

37. The petition of appeal shall be accompanied by the original order, notice or report appealed against, or by a certified copy thereof, or where no such order, notice or report has been made in writing, by a clear statement of the facts appealed against, the grounds of appeal and the referring section of the Act.

Form of appeal.

38. On receipt of an appeal, the Chief Inspector shall, if the appeal is to be heard by himself, at once fix a date for hearing the appeal; and if it is to be heard by the appellate authority, obtain a date for the hearing of the appeal from the President of that authority. No delay shall be made in deciding appeals, as the stoppage of a boiler is likely to put the owner thereof to great inconvenience. The decision should ordinarily be given within 10 days from the receipt of the petition of appeal.

Fixing date for hearing.

39. When the date for hearing has been fixed, the Chief Inspector shall at once issue a notice to the appellant stating the date for hearing and informing him that if he wishes to be heard in support of the appeal or to produce evidence, he must be present either in person or by authorized agent with his evidence on the date fixed. The notice shall be sent to such address as shall be entered in the petition of appeal.

Procedure before hearing.

40. In all appeals the Chief Inspector shall decide whether the presence of the Inspector is necessary, and shall issue orders accordingly.

Presence of Inspector.

41. The appellate authority shall have power to secure the attendance of witnesses and to make local enquiries under the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

Attendance of witnesses.

42. If the appellant is not present on the date fixed, the appeal may be decided in his absence.

Ex parte decisions.

43. The local Government shall appoint, when necessary, an officer to be President of the appellate authority for such period as it thinks fit. The President shall be an officer with judicial or magisterial experience.

President of appellate authority.

44. The Boiler Commission shall constitute the panel of assessors for the purpose of assisting in the hearing of appeals.

45. Whenever the date for an appeal before the appellate authority has been fixed, the Chief Inspector shall, when necessary, under the orders of the President of the authority, arrange for the attendance of three members of the Boiler Commission to act as assessors.

Constitution of appellate authority.

46. All sums realized as fees, costs and penalties under the Act shall be credited to the Steam Boiler Inspection Fund.

47. In appeals before the appellate authority the President of the authority is authorized to fix the costs and recover them from the appellant in any case in which the appeal is dismissed; in all cases of appeal in which a local inspection is required by the appellant he shall deposit in advance the full costs of such inspection.

Costs in appeals

48. Any order on appeal authorizing the registering of a boiler or the grant or renewal of a certificate shall be deemed to be subject to the payment of such fees as are prescribed by rules or regulations framed under the Act.

Fees required for certificates granted on appeal.

Administrative Instruction for Registration.

49. Technical regulations for the registration of boilers and the scale of fees for registration are prescribed in Part II of the regulations. The details of measurement recorded at the time of registration constitute a permanent record for the boiler and determine the original pressure at which the boiler is allowed to work. It is accordingly essential that the work should be done with the greatest care and precision.

Importance of registration.

50. Applications for registration shall be made under section 7 (1) to the Chief Inspector, and shall be accompanied under rule 19 by a receipt for the prescribed fee. No application shall be accepted without the receipt. No boiler shall be registered, if on measurement the fee is found to be deficient, until the deficit has been paid. Any excess payment will be refunded at the time of registration.

Receipt of applications.

51. It is essential that no delay should occur in registration. In large towns, the measurements under section 7 (3) should ordinarily be completed and the report submitted to the Chief Inspector within 7 days of the receipt of the application; in no cases should the interval exceed 30 days. The Chief Inspector should issue his orders under section 7 (4) without delay.

Necessity of avoiding delay.

52. The Chief Inspector shall maintain a register of registered boilers in serial order in Form A in two parts; in Part I (boilers originally registered in the province) the registered number of a boiler shall be the one immediately following the last serial number in the register. Gap numbers due to boilers being broken up or transferred to another province shall not be filled up. In Part II (boilers originally registered in other provinces) entries shall be made as prescribed in rule 54. Inspectors shall keep a similar register for all boilers within their jurisdiction.

Register of registered boilers

53. Whenever a boiler is transferred from one province to another, the owner shall, under section 6 (b), apply to the the Chief Inspector of the province to which the boiler is transferred, for the registration of the transfer; the boiler cannot be used until registration has been effected. The Chief Inspector shall then obtain from that province the registration book and memorandum of inspection book of the boiler. No fee shall be charged for recording transfer.

Procedure on transfer of a boiler.

54. On receipt of the registration and memorandum of inspection books the Chief Inspector shall enter the boiler under its original number in Part II of his register. The registration book and the memorandum of inspection book shall be kept in the Chief Inspector's office.

Entry of transferred boiler in register.

55. Whenever a boiler has been transferred or broken up, the fact shall be noted in the register of the province from which it has been transferred. In the case of a boiler that has been permanently dismantled the registration book and the memorandum of inspection book shall be destroyed.

Note of transferred and dismantled boilers.

Administrative Instructions for Inspection.

56. Detailed instructions for the inspection of boilers are contained in Part II of the regulations. In making inspections it is important that the Inspector should pay particular attention to entries made in the memorandum of inspection book at the time of the previous inspection.

Reference to previous inspections.

57. In arranging for inspections particular attention should be paid to the provisions of rule 25 (a). If an hydraulic test is necessary in addition to the ordinary inspection, ample notice must be given to the owner. During the inspection of one of a battery of boilers, the Inspector should take the opportunity of examining the other boilers under steam, with special reference to the water gauges, pressure gauges, and safety valves.

Procedure during inspection.

Issue of certificates and provisional orders.

58. All certificates must be issued from the head office after being countersigned by the Chief Inspector. Provisional orders should be issued in every case of registration after hydraulic test if the Inspector is satisfied. The steam test may be witnessed at any convenient time within the period of the provisional order, after which if the test is satisfactory the certificate under section 7 is to be issued.

Provisional orders must also be issued after every completed inspection for renewed certificates, so as to give authority for the use of boilers pending the issue of certificates.

The period specified in any provisional order or certificate shall begin on the day following that on which the completed hydraulic test or thorough inspection is made.

59. Certificates and provisional orders shall be issued in Forms VI and V, respectively, prescribed under the Regulations.

60. Fees for inspection shall be calculated on the basis of boiler rating as prescribed under rule 11 (1).

All smoke tubes, exterior of water tubes, smoke boxes, and external flues must be swept clean.

Provision shall be made for the effective disconnection of all steam and hot water communication with any other boilers under steam, as prescribed in Part III of the regulations. This shall be effected either by the removal of a length of pipe from the steam and feed piping or by the insertion of substantial blank flanges. Where blank flanges are employed, they shall be inserted between the flange of the chest and the pipe attached to it. No blank flange shall be inserted between a safety valve chest and the boiler.

NOTE.—These provisions as to effective disconnection shall extend to every case wherein a person is sent, or with the assent of the owner or person in charge goes, into a boiler for any purpose. See Part III of the Regulations.

The costs of such application shall be paid by such party or parties as the Court shall think fit.

13. The transcript or printed record for the use of the Privy Council shall consist of the separate parts, namely, Part I, Part II and Part III ; each part having its own index with a list of documents omitted under rule 17 of His Majesty's Order in Council of 21st December 1908 and under order XLV, rule 7 of the Code, giving a short description of each document. (e) the paper book shall contain brief marginal notes, the wording of which shall be approved by the Registrar ;

(f) each document in Part III shall be separately printed and paged at the foot of each page.

The extra fifty copies mentioned in rule 19 of Chapter XXXII may be utilized in Parts I and III for the use of the Privy Council provided they comply with all the abovementioned conditions.

16. Before the paper-book is printed the final or press proof thereof shall be brought into the Registrar's office for the purpose of being examined by the Examiners Department of the Original Side and being passed by the Registrar. The Registrar may call for one or more further proofs until he is satisfied that the order to print can be given. The press proof may be submitted for examination and passing in sections provided the sections are in consecutive order. (The court-fee for examining and passing shall be payable out of the Rs. 400 or other moneys deposited pursuant to rule 5 of this chapter.)

17. All papers relating to applications and orders made after making over the index and list to the appellant's attorney shall be added to the printed record, or, where the printed record has been completed, printed as an additional record.

18. The appellant's attorney shall, within two months from the date of making over to him of the index and list or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court, deliver 50 copies of the printed record to the Registrar for despatch to the Registrar of the Privy Council.

19. In case any original documents or exhibits are required to be transmitted with the transcript or printed record, application for an order to the Registrar to transmit such documents may be made in Chambers to the Judges constituting the Appellate Court.

20. After the despatch of the transcript or printed record to the Registrar of the Privy Council, the actual cost of and in connection with the same shall be ascertained and any balance remaining in the hands of the Registrar shall be refunded to the appellant.

21. Notice of the despatch of the transcript or printed record to the Registrar of the Privy Council shall be issued by the Registrar or other proper officer for service on the respondent, whether he shall have appeared on the hearing of the application for a certificate under order XLV, rule 3 of the Code, or not. Such notice shall be served by the attorney for the appellant and an affidavit of due service thereof shall be filed by such attorney immediately after such service.

22. After the despatch of the transcript or printed record the Registrar or other officer shall, upon satisfactory proof of service of the notices in rules 9 and 21 mentioned, prepare and sign and forward by post without delay to the Registrar of the Privy Council a certificate that the respondent has been served with such notices.

23. The supplemental record dealing with substitution or recording death of parties shall be transmitted to England in manuscript instead of being printed at the cost of the appellant.

24. Any appeal in which no step has been taken for its prosecution for three months may be placed on the hearing list, on notice to the parties or their attorneys, to be dismissed for default, unless good cause is shown to the contrary, or be otherwise dealt with as the Court may think proper.

25. For the purposes of rules 9, 11, 12, 15 and 16 of this chapter, the word "Registrar" includes the Deputy Registrar or an Assistant Registrar to be deputed by the Registrar.

HIGH COURT NOTICES.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT—CIVIL.

The 8th December 1923.

No. 13674G.—The following Circular Order made by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, together with its enclosure, being amendment to the Rules of that Court, Appellate Side, is published for general information :—

Circular Order.

CIVIL.

Criminal.

Questions having been raised from time to time as to the action which a subordinate court should take in regard to telegrams said to have been received by a party or his legal adviser communicating the substance of an order made by the High Court, e.g., an order staying proceedings, the following instructions are issued.

It has not been the practice of the High Court to issue or to authorize any of its officers to issue judicial orders by telegram.

In criminal cases, under Rule 126, Chapter I, Volume I, of the Court's General Rules and Circular Orders, Criminal, judicial officers are prohibited from telegraphing orders to officers in charge of jails for the release of prisoners in their custody. So, on the Criminal Side of the High Court, orders for the release of prisoners are not issued by telegram. In such cases, however, care is taken to communicate the purport of the order at once by post. It follows that the High Court, which refuses to issue its own judicial orders by telegram, can accept no responsibility for private telegrams purporting to communicate the effect of the orders.

Accordingly, the High Court will not direct the subordinate courts to act, as a matter of course, on private telegrams of this kind. The most that the parties have the right to expect is that the purport of the Court's order, in any case of urgency, should be communicated to the subordinate court by the first available post. For this purpose, a form has been introduced on the Civil Side similar to the form in use on the Criminal Side, (see annexed Addendum No. 8 to the Rules of the High Court, Appellate Side, 1922).

It is not, however, the intention of the High Court to leave the subordinate courts no discretion in the matter. If a court is informed by a responsible pleader that, for instance, a proceeding pending before it has been stayed by the High Court, the court may, in its discretion, grant a short adjournment sufficient to allow of the authoritative orders being received by post. It will be understood, however, that, in every case, the matter is one for the discretion of the subordinate court and that an adjournment cannot be demanded as of right on the strength of a private telegram.

Addenda to the Rules of the High Court, Appellate Side, 1922.

No. 8.

Insert the following after Rule 71, Chapter V, at page 33 :—

71A. In every civil matter in which the Court directs an order to be issued immediately, the Bench Clerk shall at once draw up the order in the prescribed form (see form after page 36 post) and after obtaining the signature of the Judges thereto, send it forthwith to the Deputy Registrar or the Assistant Registrar in charge of the decree section, as the case may be, for issue without waiting for the formal order or the judgment to be signed. The Deputy Registrar or the Assistant Registrar shall issue the order upon payment of such fee as may be chargeable.

No. 9.

Insert the following as clause (b) to Rule 7, Chapter XI, at page 95, ibid, and re-number the existing Rule 7 as Rule 7 (a) :—

"(b) Orders for the release of an accused person from jail or from bail are not to be communicated by telegram."

2. It will be seen that the collection of current demand was 87·6 per cent. and that of arrear demand was 54·6 per cent.

A copy of Chairman's letter No. 907G., dated the 11th June 1923, is enclosed.

No. 907G., dated Howrah, the 11th June 1923.

From—BABU CHARU CHANDRA SINHA, M.A., B.L., Chairman, Howrah Municipality,
To—The Magistrate of Howrah.

As requested in your letter No. 648G., dated 14th May 1923, I have the honour to submit herewith two statements showing the warehouses licensed under the Fire Brigade Act I of 1893 and receipts and disbursements on account of the same for the year 1922-23. The former statement has been prepared in accordance with the instructions contained in the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department, No. 470M., dated 14th February 1917, to the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, a copy of which was forwarded under his memo. No. 137-M—XXIII-8, dated 16th February 1917.

The collection of fees works out to be 87½ per cent. of the current demand and 54½ per cent. of the arrear demand as against 95 per cent. of the current demand and cent. per cent. of the arrear demand of the year 1921-22.

The demand for the year 1922-23 amounts to Rs. 30,045 and the collection amounts to Rs. 26,325 as against the demand of Rs. 32,864 and the collection of Rs. 31,450 for the year 1921-22.

The contribution which the Commissioners were called upon to pay for the maintenance of the Fire Brigade amounted to Rs. 73,047 fell far short of the collection made under the Act.

The direction contained in the first proviso to section 10 of the Act was followed.

No. F.B.800, dated Calcutta, the 15th November 1923.

From—C. A. TEGART, ESQ., C.I.E., M.V.O., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Local Self-Government Department, Municipal Branch.

IN accordance with paragraph 41, section 2 of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act (I of 1893), I have the honour to forward herewith the report on the working of the Fire Brigade and Ambulance Department for the year ending 31st March 1923.

Dated Calcutta, the 5th October 1923.

From—W. JARRETT, ESQ., Chief Officer, Calcutta Fire Brigade (offg.),

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Local Self-Government Department, Municipal Branch.

(Through the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.)

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Calcutta Fire Brigade for the year ending the 31st March 1923.

During the year under review the Brigade was under the command of Captain B. A. Westbrook, the permanent Chief Officer, who proceeded to England, on leave, from March 1st, and I took over charge from that date.

2. Financial Statement.—The statement of receipts and expenditure and payments made by the municipalities within the jurisdiction of the Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, is given in Appendix I.

3. Fires, etc.—The total number of calls for fires or supposed fires during the year was 566, being a decrease of 107 calls compared with the preceding year, and are classified as under (also see Appendix VII)—

Fires	437
False alarms, wilful	78
False alarms with good intent or due to electrical defects ...	43
Calls for special service, e.g., buildings collapsing, etc. ...	8
Total ...	566

On one	day	15	fires or supposed fires occurred	...	15
On three	days	6	ditto	ditto ...	18
On twelve	„	5	ditto	ditto ...	60
On sixteen	„	4	ditto	ditto ...	64
On forty-two	„	3	ditto	ditto ...	126
On eighty-seven	„	2	ditto	ditto ...	174
On hundred and nine	„	1	ditto	ditto ...	109
Total ...					566

The actual number of calls received during the year was 903, which includes instances where more than one call was received for the same fire, viz., 369 calls transmitted by street fire alarms, 410 calls from private telephone, 70 calls from Government and police lines, 22 from messengers and outsiders, 25 calls from look-out men at Fire Brigade stations, and 7 calls from theatres.

Twelve fires occurred in the premises licensed under the Licensed Warehouse Act, I of 1893.

4. Noteworthy fires.—On the 18th October 1922 a serious fire broke out at the Minerva Theatre, Beadon Street. Owing to the exceedingly inflammable nature of the building and contents the progress of the fire was exceptionally rapid, and the roof of the building collapsed a few minutes after the outbreak. The attention of the Fire Brigade was confined principally to preventing the fires spreading, and although this theatre is situated in a very congested area it is satisfactory to note that the adjoining buildings were but slightly damaged, principally owing to the great heat. To augment the water-supply from the mains, which was barely sufficient, one engine obtained water from an ornamental pond in the grounds of a private residence. Fortunately this fire occurred during the day time. If it had taken place when a performance was in progress there would have undoubtedly been serious loss of life In order to avoid calamities such as this very stringent powers should be given to the authorities concerned. Under the existing bye-laws and regulations it is practically impossible to compel the owners of theatres to afford adequate protection to the public.

On 2nd January 1923 a serious fire occurred in the "All-India Exhibition." The exhibition consisted of a very large number of temporary erections containing valuable but highly inflammable articles. The space allowed between each line of erections was totally inadequate, and no fire-stops were provided. Certain fire mains laid in the exhibition and hydrants with standpipes and hose attachment were placed at convenient points with firemen on duty, also numerous first-aid chemical machines were provided. Unfortunately at the time of the outbreak of the fire practically no water could be obtained from the fire-mains, and owing to the high wind blowing at the time and the nature of the erections and their contents, the first-aid Chemical Fire Extinguishers were powerless to prevent the spread of the fire. Several fire-engines were turned out in response to this call, the first ones naturally connecting up to the street hydrants in the vicinity of the fire. It was, however, found that the water available was totally inadequate, and other machines were sent to a large pond a considerable distance away from the fire from which source only efficient streams could be obtained throughout the duration of the fire. From enquiries made, it is believed that the fire originated owing to a German high-pressure oil-lamp becoming ignited whilst being pumped up for demonstration purposes.

On 16th January 1923 a very serious fire occurred at the "Hanuman Jute Press," Salkia, Howrah. This district is notorious for the fact that practically no water is provided for fire-extinguishing, and the greatest difficulty has always been experienced by the Fire Brigade in fires in this area. Although three large erections containing jute were badly on fire, only a few inadequate streams of water could be got into operation from tanks at a distance of 500 yards or more from the seat of the fire. These ponds were soon exhausted, but it is satisfactory to note that the spread of the fire was checked until the arrival of the fire-float, when an adequate supply of water was obtained. It is noteworthy that a similar fire occurred in these identical buildings three years ago, when exactly similar conditions were experienced. During the process of dismantling the buildings a large wall collapsed killing three Indians and injuring one Indian fireman and one Indian, who were in the vicinity of the fire. To all appearances this wall was safe, and the collapse was due to the fact that the building was erected on reclaimed land which subsided. Owing to the inferior construction of the building and to confined space the firemen were throughout the fire in great danger, and it is satisfactory to note that although the roof and three walls collapsed (in one case a wall falling on the adjoining warehouse and practically demolishing it), with the exception of the above, no other accidents occurred.

5. Fire Loss.—The total damage caused by fire and water during the year is estimated at Rs. 15,39.161, being a decrease of Rs. 18,67,393 as compared with the figures of the last year. The damage per fire is Rs. 2,719 against Rs. 3,894 for the past twelve years.

6. The following summaries are given in the appendices shown against each :—

	Appendix.
Districts in which fires or supposed fire occurred	II
Damage caused by fire, etc., in various districts	III
Classification of fires and calls according to damage	IV
Short reports of fires of Rs. 20,000 damage and over... ...	V
Causes of fires, buildings and trades, etc., affected	XI
Comparative statement for the past thirteen years	XIII

7. Appliances.—Appendix VI shows the distribution of the appliances in commission by the Fire Brigade, and Appendix VII gives the number of times each appliance has been turned out.

It is estimated that motor appliances travelled 8,957 miles and horse-drawn appliances 154 miles during the year in responding to and returning from calls.

Delivery has been received of a new Dennis Lorry and a Dennis Fire Engine on the 11th July 1922 and 11th November 1922, respectively.

During the year two manual fire engines and one steam fire engine, which were very old and unserviceable for any further Fire Brigade use, have been sold. The sale proceeds amounted to Rs. 4,001-3 and were credited to the fund.

8. Fire Stations.—Appendix VIII gives the number of times each station has been turned out in response to fire calls, together with the monthly figures.

The Fire Brigade headquarters is still located in premises rented from the Samavaya Corporation, Limited, at a high monthly rental, and with the expansion of the Brigade the present building is not sufficient nor suitable for the purposes required, and it is now necessary to take steps for the selection of a suitable site and for erecting permanent headquarters.

The staff and appliances at the Sibpur Fire Station have been transferred to the Howrah Fire Station, and the buildings have been given over to the Bengal Police for their use free of rent, with the reservation that the station may be taken over again if required by the Fire Brigade.

9. Staff.—The strength of the Fire Brigade was 215. The distribution and ranks are shown in Appendix IX. The conduct and discipline have been good.

10. Fatalities and accidents.—During the year the total number of lives lost was 5, of which there were two cases of suicide by burning. First-aid was rendered in almost in all the cases by the Fire Brigade, and the injured persons were conveyed to hospital (Appendix X). I regret to report that Engineer Bishop of the Fire Brigade met with an accident while extinguishing a petrol fire. He was severely burnt on the face, arms, chest and back by the explosion of a drum of petrol. Two Indian firemen also sustained slight injuries from falling walls at a jute press fire.

11. Horses.—There are at present only 8 horses.

12. Water-supply.—The reports of the previous years give full details of the exact position as regards water-supply. Now that it is proposed to incorporate the Cossipore-Chitpur, Maniktala and Garden Reach Municipalities in the Calcutta Municipality it is hoped that adequate water-supplies will be provided for these areas. Regarding the existing water-supply at Howrah and Cossipore-Chitpur I again beg to invite attention of the authorities to my remarks which have been published in the Annual Reports for some years past.

13. Fire float.—On several occasions the new fire-float which was placed in commission in June 1922 has been of the utmost value and in at least one instance has probably been the means of saving a conflagration.

14. Street fire-alarms, telephones and electrical communications.—It is unsatisfactory to note that false alarms due to electrical defects have increased of late. The Bengal Telephone Corporation have been re-organising the fire-alarm system, and the process is well in hand, and undoubtedly the benefit of this will soon be apparent.

15. Inspection department, theatres and places of public amusement, etc.—Remarks concerning the bye-laws and regulations of theatres have been made in paragraph 4 in relation to the Minerva Theatre fire. The existing conditions in regard to enforcing the observance of the bye-laws and regulations are very ineffective, and owing to the exceedingly small fines which are imposed for non-observance and breaches of bye-laws, and the fact that theatres do not require any special license it is practically impossible adequately to safeguard the public. The question is now before

Government, and it is hoped that full powers will be given to the authorities concerned in regard to the regulation of theatres. Failing this it is possible that a very serious catastrophe may occur at any time in some of the highly inflammable Indian theatres which are so often overcrowded by the public.

The fines imposed by the Municipal Court during the year for breach of bye-laws of theatres amounted to Rs. 1,237 against Rs. 2,290 for the previous year.

In connection with the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, 6,451 inspections of warehouses have been made during the year, 364 applications for licenses and complaints have been attended to and disposed of; 224 prosecutions were made under section 14 of Act I of 1893 which resulted in 153 persons being fined, aggregating in all Rs. 2,676-8, 17 persons being warned, 12 persons acquitted and 42 cases withdrawn and filed.

16. Fire Brigade Workshops.—During the year the workshops were in charge of S. O. Collins, and all repairs to fire appliances were done in an able manner enabling machines to be kept in good working order.

17. General.—The Calcutta Fire Brigade protects the municipalities of Calcutta, Cossipur-Chitpur, Howrah, Maniktala and Garden Reach and may attend fires outside the boundaries of these municipalities but not exceeding a radius of 6 miles from the Central Fire Station, provided that appliances can be spared and on payment of a prescribed fee. Appendix XIV gives the Government order relating to this and the form which should be signed prior to the Fire Brigade leaving the jurisdiction of the above municipalities.

I am pleased to record that the members of the Fire Brigade rendered excellent and strenuous services throughout the year.

Ambulance Department.—The Motor Ambulance Service has been of much value to the public responding to 8,081 calls during the year.

The staff of the Motor Ambulance Service consists of 10 drivers and 20 attendants.

Appendix XVI gives the number of calls received every day and month throughout the year. The Ambulance Department is financially maintained by Government and the Corporation of Calcutta at the proportion of one-third and two-thirds, respectively. Appendix XV gives a statement of receipts and expenditure incurred by the Motor Ambulance Service during the year.

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1923-24.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1921-22, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 19·7 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—The comparatively unfavourable weather conditions this year contrast with those of the two preceding seasons. As reported in the preliminary forecast, sowing of the broadcast variety of rice was carried out under good conditions, especially in the low land tracts of East and North Bengal. Transplanted paddy, on the other hand, has fared less favourably throughout, owing to insufficient rainfall. On this account transplanting was, in parts of North and West Bengal, prolonged into late September. Good rainfall in August helped the crop in some West Bengal districts, but was not so well distributed in Mymensingh and in parts of North and West Bengal. On the whole, a satisfactory crop is anticipated for the broadcast variety and a fair one for the transplanted variety.

Acreage.—According to the District Officers' estimates, the total area under winter rice amounts to 14,951,900 acres as against 16,171,600 and 16,209,900 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. The decrease is attributed to unsuitable weather. A noticeable area of land which normally bears transplanted paddy is fallow in the present season.

Outturn.—From the district returns appended it will be seen that Dacca, Bakarganj and Noakhali report a normal crop. Ten districts report crop between 92 and 83 per cent. and the rest between 75 to 49 per cent.

The outturn for the province (worked out on the District Officers' estimates) is 80 per cent. of a normal crop; but I raise this figure to 85 per cent. On the latter basis, the gross yield of cleaned grain from the winter rice crop, assuming a normal yield of 12½ maunds per acre, amounts to 5,835,800 tons this year as against 6,831,700 and 7,294,500 tons, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Bhadoi crops of Bengal, 1923-24.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1921-22, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6·6 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—As indicated in the preliminary forecast there was an unequal distribution of rainfall throughout the Province. In East Bengal the weather was generally favourable throughout, but the lowness of river levels during the monsoon period affected the outturn. Elsewhere the crops, especially on high lands, suffered much through want of sufficient rain at the time of their maturity, causing a considerable damage. On the whole a fairly satisfactory crop was reaped in East Bengal and a fair one for the rest of the Province.

Acreage.—The total area sown with the different bhadoi crops this year is reported to be 5,767,500 acres as against 5,938,100 acres last year. Of this the area under autumn rice is estimated at 4,984,000 acres as against 5,160,200 acres last year.

Outturn.—According to the District Officers' estimates, the outturn of autumn rice as as well as of all the bhadoi crops together work out at 79 per cent. of the normal for the Presidency as against 78 per cent. last year.

Accepting 77 per cent. as the outturn of autumn rice this year, the gross outturn of the crop for the Presidency on the basis of a normal yield of 10¾ maunds of clean grain per acre is estimated at 1,515,500 tons this year as against 1,589,400 tons reported in the corresponding forecast of last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for November 1923.

I. Character of the season.—During the month light rain fell almost all over the Province ; but precipitation was in defect of the normal except in Khulna, Chittagong, the Chittagong Hill Tracts, Midnapore, Howrah and Bakarganj, where it was in excess. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Reaping of early winter paddy and ploughing for and sowing of spring crops continued briskly.

III. State of standing crops.—Owing to scarcity of rain the outturn of winter rice, especially the late transplanted, variety was adversely affected in Mymensingh and in parts of North and West Bengal ; elsewhere conditions were generally fairly satisfactory. The condition of sugarcane and vegetables was favourable.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects for transplanted winter paddy were fair and favourable for broadcast amán paddy. The outturn of winter rice may be estimated at 85 per cent. of the normal and that of bhadoi paddy at 77 per cent. of the normal.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Slight damage to winter paddy and spring crops by insect-pests was reported from Nadia and Tippera districts.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of cattle was generally good. Sporadic cases of cattle disease were, however, reported from Nadia, Burdwan, Bankura, Darjeeling, Rangpur and Cooch-Behar.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—No scarcity of fodder was reported from any part of the province.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month the prices of the cheapest quality of rice rose in four districts, fell in thirteen and remained stationary in the rest of the Province. The prices in different districts varied from 6½ seers per rupee in Rangpur to 9¼ seers per rupee in Burdwan.

IX. Condition of agricultural people.—The condition of agricultural population continued to be fair.

4 The following are the conditions of sale. Government reserve to themselves the right of altering all or any of these conditions after giving three months' previous notice, and power is reserved to vary the upset price referred to in condition (iii) at any time without such previous notice :—

(i) The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

(ii) Every application for the export of opium from India should be accompanied by an "Import certificate" in the form prescribed by the League of Nations and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 20th September 1922, with the Bengal Government notification No. 2449S.R., dated the 16th September 1922.

(iii) The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 4,500 per chest of uncertified opium and will be sold to the highest bidder above that price except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause (xiv) of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

(iv) The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. on the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of Government, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of ; or if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Government may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

(v) Each lot shall ordinarily contain five chests.

(vi) A promissory note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such promissory notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this office by receipts of the Imperial Bank of India or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the 5th day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday ; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no receipts of the Imperial Bank of India or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as Government shall see fit ; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 4,800 per chest, Rs. 1,100 per chest.
On bids of Rs 4,800 and upwards, but less than Rs 5,200 per chest, Rs 12,00 per chest
On bids of Rs 5,200 and upwards, but less than Rs 5,600 per chest, Rs 1,300 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid, additional, to the extent of Rs. 400

(vii) The said promissory notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

(viii) The promissory notes taken on the day of sale under the sixth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

(ix) No tender of money, receipts of the Imperial Bank of India or public securities on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause (vi) on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted ; provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said promissory note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. (vi) and No. (vii).

(x) The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day after the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday ; if it falls on a Saturday the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M. ; and, in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the sixth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as Government shall think fit ; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

(xi) Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payments as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorising the delivery of single lot or of a different number of lots or chests whether more or less than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

(xii) No deposit of public securities under the sixth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

(xiii) The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India notes, receipts of the Imperial Bank of India, or Government securities a sum equal to the amount for which a promissory note would otherwise be taken under the sixth of these conditions.

(xiv) With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bona fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 4,500 specified in the third of these conditions.

(xv) The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of opium not exceeding altogether ten lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said ten.

(xvi) In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

5. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal :—

No. 1.—Certificate of the opium advertised for sale.

No. 2.—Report of the examination of such opium.

6. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured in the Gazipur Factory, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Gazipur Factory, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal.

7. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Government of Bengal. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Government entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred, on reference to chests, after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

AMENDMENT OF THE TRAVELLING ALLOWANCE RULES.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

Audit

CALCUTTA, THE 13TH DECEMBER 1923.

RESOLUTION—No. 11733F.

Amendment of the Travelling Allowance Rules.

THE Government of Bengal have had under consideration the recommendations of the Retrenchment Committee on the subject of travelling allowance. The Committee drew attention to certain defects in the present rules and, while indicating where these operated unfairly in certain directions, made certain suggestions whereby economy could be effected and abuses removed. The Governor in Council has, after careful consideration of the various recommendations, decided to amend, in the following manner, the subsidiary travelling allowance rules framed by the Government of Bengal under rule 44 of the Fundamental Rules and published with notifications Nos. 19427F. and 19451F. in the Calcutta Gazette Extraordinary of 23rd December 1922. These rules as now amended will come into force on the 1st January 1924.

2. In doing so, Government have revised the classification of officers for the purposes of travelling allowance on the principle that the status of the service to which an officer belongs should be the main criterion according to which he should be classified. The special classification under Appendix 18, Civil Service Regulations, will no longer be in force, but the special higher rates of daily allowance to officers included in Appendix 25, Civil Service Regulations, will continue pending further examination, so far as those officers are concerned whose pay is debitable to provincial revenues and who are under the administrative control of the Governor in Council acting as the Agent of the Governor-General in Council.

3. For rule 1 (Reserved and Transferred) substitute—

"For the purpose of calculating travelling allowance, Government servants are divided into four grades as follows :—

(a) The first grade includes all officers of Government in receipt of actual pay exceeding Rs. 750 per mensem as well as other officers of the services included in the following schedule :—

Schedule.

(1) Indian Civil Service.
(2) Indian Police Service.
(3) Indian Forest Service.
(4) Indian Educational Service.
(5) Indian Service of Engineers.
(6) Indian Agricultural Service.
(7) Indian Veterinary Service.
(8) Indian Medical Service.
(9) Non-Indian Medical Service officers holding Civil Surgeoncies.
(10) Officers holding appointments reserved for or included in the cadre of the all-India Services.
(11) Subdivisional Officers and Additional Subdivisional Officers when touring within their subdivisions or travelling to or from the headquarters of their districts except on transfer.

(b) The second grade includes all Government servants in receipt of actual pay of not less than Rs. 150, but not exceeding Rs. 750 and not included in the first grade.

(c) The third grade includes all other Government servants in superior service, except forest guards.

(d) The fourth grade includes forest guards and all Government servants in inferior service."

For rule 19 (Reserved and Transferred) substitute—

"The mileage allowance admissible to a Government servant of the 1st, 2nd or 3rd grade is one and three-quarter fares of the class in which he is entitled to accommodation, except in the case of—

(1) journeys on transfer,

(2) journeys under 75 miles and an absence from headquarters of more than 24 hours, both conditions to be fulfilled, and

(3) journeys of Government servants required to accompany the Government of Bengal to Darjeeling, which are governed by the Darjeeling Allowance Code, in which case double fare will be allowed. The mileage allowance admissible to a Government servant of the 4th grade is the fare of the lowest class."

For rule 33 (a) (Reserved and Transferred) substitute—

"Daily allowances are drawn on the following scale :—

(i) A Government servant of the first grade Rs. 6.

(ii) A Government servant of the second grade As 5 for every Rs. 25 or fraction of Rs. 25 of his pay, subject to a maximum of Rs. 4.

(iii) A Government servant of the third grade annas 2½ for every Rs. 12½ or fraction of Rs. 12½ of his pay, subject to a minimum of As. 5.

(iv) A Government servant of the fourth grade As. 4 if he travels outside the province, and As. 3 if he travels within the province."

In rule 50 (Reserved and Transferred) after the words "mileage allowance" in line 4 insert "as provided in rule 58" and omit the word "entire" in line 4 and the words "or to a Government servant..... journey not exceeding 20 miles" at the end of the rule.

For rule 58 (Reserved and Transferred) substitute—

"(a) Subject to any conditions which a competent authority may, by general or special order, impose, a Government servant in superior service may exchange his daily allowance for mileage allowance on any day on which—

(i) he travels by railway or steamer or both, or

(ii) he travels more than 20 miles by road :

Provided that, if a continuous journey extend over more than one day, the exchange must be made for all such days and not for a part only of them.

NOTE.—Short journeys within a radius of five miles from headquarters may not be added to other journeys, when calculating the distance travelled by road or the amount of mileage allowance admissible for road journeys.

(b) When a journey by road is combined with a journey by railway or steamer, mileage allowance may be drawn on account of such combined journey, but mileage in respect of the road journey will be limited to the amount of daily allowance unless the journey by road exceeds 20 miles, in which case an amount equivalent to daily allowance and mileage allowance for the excess over 20 miles may be drawn in accordance with (c) of this rule. The mileage allowance for the first 20 miles or part thereof may be increased by 50 per cent. on a certificate by the controlling officer that sufficient camp equipment was taken to justify the increased rate, but the mileage in respect of this part of the road journey is in this case also limited to the amount of daily allowance.

(c) When a journey is by road, an amount equivalent to the daily allowance may be drawn for the first 20 miles and mileage allowance for the excess over 20 miles of any journey, provided that only half mileage may be drawn for any excess over 30 miles.

(ii) Unless such journey by road be a journey to or from the Government servants' headquarters, mileage allowance shall be calculated on the distance actually travelled, without regard to the points fixed by or under rule 15."

After the words "in inferior service" in line 2 of rule 60 (Reserved and Transferred) add the words "except as provided in the Darjeeling Allowance Code", and for clause (d) of the same rule substitute—

"For a journey by road combined with a journey by railway or by steamer, he may, except as provided in rule 59, draw mileage allowance for the road journey in addition to the allowances admissible under clause (a) or (b) of this rule, but such mileage allowance is limited to the amount of daily allowance unless the journey by road exceeds 20 miles."

In rules 146 (a) (Reserved) and 137 (a) (Transferred) insert after the words "mileage allowance of his grade" the words "as laid down in rule 58."

Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Ordered also that the Resolution be forwarded to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Bengal; Director of Public Instruction, Bengal; Surgeon-General, with the Government of Bengal; Inspector-General of Police, Bengal; Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal; Superintending Engineers; Commissioners of Divisions; District and Sessions Judges; Conservator of Forests, Bengal; Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal; Director of Agriculture, Bengal; Director of Land Records and Surveys, Bengal; Advocate-General, Bengal; Director of Public Health, Bengal; Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal; Commissioner of Police, Calcutta; District Officers; Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, Bengal; Chief Judge, Small Cause Court, Calcutta; Private Secretary to the Governor of Bengal; Military Secretary to the Governor of Bengal; Administrator General and Official Trustee, Bengal; Registrar of Co-operative Societies, Bengal; Chief Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta; Chief Engineer, Public Health Department, Bengal; Port Officer, Chittagong; Superintendent, Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta; Agent for Government Consignments, Bengal; Deputy Commissioner Chittagong Hill Tracts; Veterinary; Adviser to the Government of Bengal; Municipal Magistrate, Calcutta, Superintendent, Government Printing, Bengal; Director of Industries, Bengal; Accountant-General, Bengal, and to all departments of this Government, including the Accounts Department, for information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. MARR.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

First Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1923-24.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1921-22, the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 5·4 per cent and that under rape and mustard 17·5 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India).

Explanatory.—Three forecasts are issued for the spring oilseed crops. The present one deals only with the area sown and the general condition of the crops.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are grown chiefly in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum, for which separate forecasts are issued), is returned at 877,600 acres this year, as against 925,400 acres and 905,400 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Character of the season.—The rainfall in September and October, though defective, enabled moisture to be retained in the soil for preparatory tillage. The sowings, therefore, commenced at the usual time and continued in November under favourable conditions except in Mymensingh and in parts of West Bengal, where progress is slow owing to absence of rain. The present outlook is generally reported to be fair on the whole.
